Carter Speaks Of Love In His All-White Church

Associated Press Writer
PLAINS, Ga. (AP) — Jimmy Carter stood in front of his Sunday school class at the Plains Raptist church which excludes blacks from membership, and softly said that love and social justice are deeply intertwined. Carter, who has had strong support from blacks, warned his audience not to think that they are better than anyone else, including those of another color. "You just can't encapsulate yourself in isolation or be a hermit and have love for people," Carter said. He delivered the same message, he pointed out, last week when he accepted the Democratic presidential nomination in New he accepted the Democratic presidential nomination in New York. But now, he was talking to boyhood friends, relatives and long-time business acquaintances.

Plains Baptist church does not have blacks among its members, and in 1964 the only members to vote to allow blacks to worship at the church were Carter, his wife, mother, two sons and another member of the congregation. The vote to exclude blacks still stands. Expounding on his theme of "God is love," Carter said that while Christ consorted with prosti-tutes, cheaters, tax collectors, the common people and darkskinned persons, " ... the average person with whom Christ lived wouldn't speak to those of a different color or race or "Do we do the same thing?" he asked. "Quite often if we go into a Baptist church in the South, that's a social and economic elite," he added. "There's a tendency to think that because I've been accepted by God ... I'm better than other people."

But a person who truly loves will believe that "I am not only not better than you. You are better than I am and I want to work for you."

'Love in isolation doesn't mean anything. But it does if it is applied to other people — to change their lives for the better through what I described as simple justice, fairness, comsion equality, recognizing that the poor are the ones that

Carter had remained in seclusion at home since returning from New York on Friday night, reading, studying the up-coming campaign, watching the Olympics and refusing to talk to reporters. He has taught Sunday school since he was 18 but this was his largest attendance ever.

Usually, no more than 15 men attend. Sunday, about 80 persons were present, most of them reporters, tourists and Secret Service agents. The class was transferred from the usual bare room to a larger one. "We're glad to have visitors and people from the media," Carter said, but he added: "The only purpose of the Sunday school lesson is to study about Chrief."

A press aide said that while in Plains, Carter may occasionally visit his nearby farm but "if he goes to the farm and is followed there by news people, he will not get out of the car." There was no word on when or where Carter will meet with his vice-presidential running mate, Sen. Walter F. Mon-

As the 51-year-old noninee went from Sunday school to church he was mobbed by hundreds of tourists eager to get his picture or a handshake. The little steepled church overflowed with people. Most of the church members didn't seem to mind the influx. One little girl said, "I think it's so exciting. I'm really glad everybody's here.'

But a middle-aged woman, trying to push through the crush, turned to a reporter and said: "It's our church. Why don't you just leave us alone and go to your own church?" Before reading the announcements about church meetings, Deacon "First of all, we want to congratulate Jimmy on his success in New York. Your little trip has paid

Carter, his wife Rosalynn, mother Lillian and daughter Amy listened attentively in the third pew to the sermon and sang vigorously as Carter's cousin Hugh led the hymns. The Democrats' standard-bearer gave the benediction

Learn About Berrien And Have A Good Time

"Fabulous Fruits of Freedom, 90-minute pageant depicting the history of Berrien county will be shown Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights this week at the Youth Fair Grounds, Berrien Springs.

Advance indications are that the pageant is well worth seeing.

Howard F. Lancour, director of the Michigan Bicentennial Commission has praised the "ingenuity and imagination" of Berrien's Bicentenmial Commission, describing this week's pageant and other Berrien ac-"undoubtedly one of the tstanding Bicentennial outstanding programs in the entire state."

Tickets to the pageant are $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for children, and $3.50 for to start at 9:30 each evening and is preceded by a musical program beginning at 8:30.

The pageant should be especially fine fare for family outings. Director Robert Holzman, a professional showman, has been hired to make sure that history comes alive in entertaining fashion. There's action apienty to keep youngsters' attention riveted on the

Grownups will like the serious effort that has been made under Paul McAdams, pageant president, to produce an accurate and informative

Aussie Prime Minister Rates A Red Carpet

Australian Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco this week Saturday to begin a six-day official visit to the United States. He deserves red carpet treatment for restoring friendsip between the two nations.

Relations between Australia and the United States, which traditionally had been friendly, often were strained during Gough Whitlam's term as Prime Minister. But Whitlam's Labor Party government was toppled in a special election last December, and Australia's new Prime Minister, Liberal party leader Fraser, has embarked on a campaign of international fence-mending.

Fraser outlined his foreign policy views in a major address to Parliament in June. The speech was

Guess Too Small

Cynics who contend it is the manufacturer who creates the demand among consumers rather than the other way around have not learned much from this year's automobile sales. Rarely have the auto manufacturers missed their sales expectations as widely as they have this year.
Not that 1976 has not been a good year overall for the automobile industry. Sales projections made at the beginning of the year have been exceeded by a fairly large margin. What caught the manufacturers flatfooted was the sales mix the consumer demanded.

When plans for 1976 production were made it was assumed the small car would be the sales leader. Several of The manufacturers announced that full-size models would be made smaller after the 1976 model year. -: Not only did the consumer return to the new car market in larger numbers than expected, but his preference was for the larger cars.

almost a point-by-point repudiation of the policy devised and pursued by

Fraser sharply criticized the Soviet Union and called for closer ties with China, Japan and the United States. "It is clearly against Australia's interests for the balance (of power) in this area to move against our major ally, the United States," he said. "Australia and China," he added, "have an interest in seeing that Soviet power in the Pacific and Southeast Asia is balanced by the power of other major states or by appropriate regional arrangements."

On that basis, Fraser said, "we can therefore expect Chinese support of our views on the need for an effective American presence in the Pacific and Indian Oceans. Such support has, in fact, been given."

The Prime Minister's speech was delivered shortly before he traveled to Tokyo and Peking on his first major venture into heads-of-government diplomacy. The highlight of the trip was the signing of a commercial treaty with Japan, which is Australia's major trading partner. Australia already provides Japanese industry with 48 per cent of its iron ore and 37 per-cent of its coking coal.

On Fraser's first visit to the United States as Prime Minister he no doubt will concentrate on regional security issues. In one of his first interviews after taking office, he called on the United States to press ahead with construction of a naval base on Diego Garcia, a strategic Indian Ocean island that straddles the air and sea lanes between the Middle East and Asia and Australia. Whitlam had opposed the controversial project.

Fraser will have a number of domestic problems to attend to when he returns to Canberra. Foremost among them are an inflation rate of about 15 per cent and the country's fractious labor unions. Between 1964 and 1974 Australia lost more workdays to strikes than Britain, partly because it still lacks a law requiring unions to vote by secret ballot.

Large wage increases — 70 per cent in the last three years alone — are mainly responsible for the country's double-digit inflation. The average Australian now earns $219 a week in U.S. terms, compared with $172 a week for the average American. In addition, all Australians get four weeks of vacation, during which they receive a bonus of 17.5 per cent extra

All in all, then, it is a good life Down Under. As Fraser pays his respects to this country, many Americans may wish that he would impart the secret of Australia's success to U.S. officials.

Oh, Say Can You Sing It?

NEW YORK - Once again the Democratic Convention delegates have survived a participatory rendition of the National Anthem. As Peter Duchin's orchestra provided the music, the delegates passed treacherously but safely through the words. Chords popped out of necks, faces colored — yet according to at-leading physicians there were no fatalities and only a suspected coronary threat.

Fortunately, just the first stanza was required. There are four verses to the Star Spangled Banner, and the hazards after the first are truly awesome. Just reading the morass is painful:

Oh! Thus be it ever when

Between their loved home and the war's desolation. Blest with vict'ry and peace, may the heav'n-rescued land Praise the power that hath

God is our trust. And the Star Spangled Banner in triumph shall wave

O'er the land of the free and the house of the brave.

I'm serious. That's verse four. Two and three are best not resurrected. Once a group of Nebraska school chilren are to have sung the who thing, and the dogs in Omaha howled for a week. People who witnessed that phenomenon said the dogs sounded better. One vhoever wrote the score must have thought fugue was something that went on between the Hatfields and McCoys, Ah, the Star Spangled Banner.

Oh! Say can you sing it? Most people cannot. Robert Goulet once forgot the words at the ringside of a heavyweight box-ing championship. Metropolitan Opera basso George London has said the difficulties of the tune "awe me," A minor league baseball executive used to tell his singers to move around the park while singing the anthem to present a moving turget.

is partly to blame for the mat ter. A Baltimore attorney, he was on a British warship arranging for the release of a captured friend when Fort McHenry was attacked (in 1814). For the most part, the attack was a minor incident in a minor war, but Key recorded it as an epic poem.

However, it did not become the national authern until 117 years later, when the nation needed it even more. In 1931, as Depression gripped the people, and as government searched for and as governme anything to lift the spirits, a Maryland congressman guided a bill through Congress to make Key's poem the national tune. An old English drinking song of no particular merit was selected as the music

Early on, the only criticism of the song came from musicians who claimed it straightened out their tubas. More recently, however, it has suffered victous attacks from people with hernias. And too, there are complaints that the words are inappropriately combative. In verse three, for example, Key British which had washed out their "polluted footsteps." The gripe is you can't sing that on a full stomach without an air bag.

While accurate, the complaints of the anthem's chauvinism are not convincing. National anthems are traditionally hard-nosed As for the complaint that it is unsingable, even unsayable, a spokesman at the modern-day Fort McHenry says: "Hell, it wasn't written for convenience." He wrote it in praise of an idea, a philosophy, a people if you will who need not hit all its notes to be stirred by its notions. Hence, to criticize its meter may be untair, and to suggest its change is futile. Except. Except now that Jimmy Carter is among us, there is hope.

NEW YORK - No convention of either party since 1932 has nominated a non-incumbent with such a confident air of picking a président, not just a

The feeling is inescapable here that the election is over as well as the convention.

Such sentiments are premature, of course, because surprises can occur between now and November and many wise Democratic leaders are already warming of the dangers But it is safe to say that

Jimmy Carter begins his cam-paign from Madison Square Garden with more built-in advantages than any non-incumbent presidential candidate in more than four decades. Because of his early selection, he has an unusually long time to organize the fall campaign, contrast Republican opponent will not be to think beyond the nomination fight until the end of August. He has the advantage of a unified party free of radical the Republicans are bitterly divided.

Carter is in a position of maximum flexibility, free of crippling : crippling political en-ganglements or rigid policy commitments. His opposition, by contrast, is saddled with voter tendency to turn out a party after eight years, a record party after eight years, a record of inflation and recession, lingering clouds of the Waters crimes, and the fact that only 17 per cent of eligible voters are registered Republicans.
The nation's capital is full of Democrats in law and consulting firms who are left over from the Kennedy and Johnson Administrations and have been waiting impatiently for an opportunity to return to govern ent service. Now is chance, but the difficulty is that hardly any of them know Carter very well or backed him early in the campaign against the mul-titude of more familiar Democratic figures from Washington who also ran.

Carter has already made it abundantly clear that he will run his own show and pick his own people, with a high priority given those who supported him

Perhaps none of the jobjockeying is more conspicuous than that going on in the great Secretary of State sweepstakes. Foreign policy experts from past Democratic Administrations who haven't been seen at tons who haven't been seen at embassy parties for eight years are suddenly appearing with regularity. Men who publish rarely are now writing long thoughtful pieces for highvisibility publications, where Carter is likely to notice them.

The nearest historical comparison to this aura of optimism and self-confidence that now pervades the Democratic Party Dwight Eis mhower, the great war hero. Harry Truman had been an unpopular president and Eisenhower, was far more popular in the countryside than the Democrats' choice. But the big difference between 1976 and 1952 is that the Republicans in 1952 were deeply divided, which Eisenhower's omething less than a sure thing.

Carter is not a sure thing; either. But he appears to have the greatest prospects for succeas of any party nominee since the Great Depression swept Franklin Roosevelt into the White House in 1932,

Carter had remained in seclusion at home since returning from New York on Friday night, reading, studying the upcoming campaign, watching the Olympics and refusing to talk to reporters. He has taught Sunday school since he was 18 but this was his largest attendance ever.

Usually, no more than 15 men attend. Sunday, about 80 persons were present, most of them reporters, tourists and Secret Service agents. The class was transferred from the usual bare room to a larger one. "We're glad to have visitors and people from the media," Carter said, but he added: "The only purpose of the Sunday school lesson is to study about

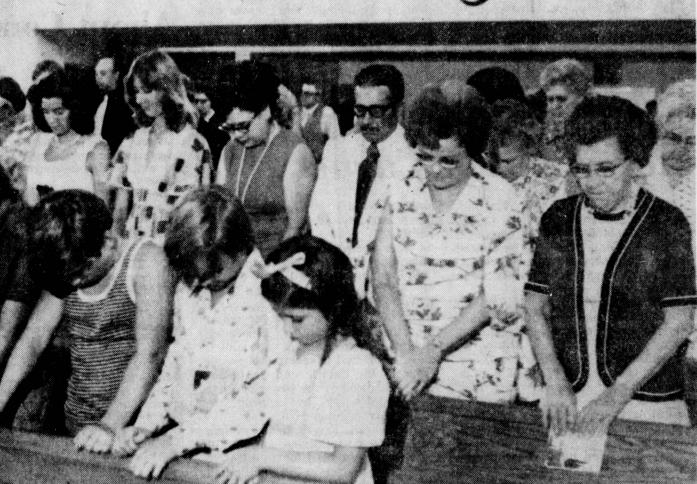

A press aide said that while in Plains, Carter may occasionally visit his nearby farm but "if he goes to the farm and is followed there by news people, he will not get out of the car." There was no word on when or where Carter will meet with his wice-presidential running mate, Sen. Walter F. Mondale of Minnesota. The meeting is expected soon.

As the 51-year-old nominee went from Sunday school to church he was mobbed by hundreds of tourists eager to get his picture or a handshake. The little steepled church overflowed with people. Most of the church members didn't seem to mind the influx. One little girl said, "I think it's so exciting. I'm really glad everybody's here."

But a middle-aged woman, trying to push through the crush, turned to a reporter and said: "It's our church. Why don't you just leave us alone and go to your own church?" Before reading the announcements about church meetings, Deacon Theron Howard said, "First of all, we want to congratulate Jimmy on his success in New York. Your little trip has paid

After a brief picture-taking session, negotiators began a two-hour closed-door meeting.

Meanwhile, several hundred UAW members, most of them retirees from Flint, Mich., locals, demonstrated outside, demanding cost of living increases for pensions and a 32hour work week for 40 hours'

The UAW opens its triennial negotiations with other car makers later this week as it begins the long and difficult task of reaching new three-year accords covering 680,000 U.S. and Canadian workers.

The talks - replacing current pacts which expire in mid-September - will affect more workers than any other industry agreements being hammered out this year.

Meetings similar to today's will be held Tuesday at Ford Motor Co., Wednesday at Chrysler Corp. and Thursday at American Motors Corp.

The start of formal talks this year has been preceded by unusally optimistic predictions from both sides that peaceful settlements can be reached without a national strike for the first time since 1964.

The issue of jobs — how to create them and preserve them - is the union's chief demand this year to provide workers better protection from another disastrous industry slump. More than 200,000 workers were left jobless in 1974 and 1975, when the energy crisis and subsequent recession sent Detroit tumbling into its worst downturn since the 1930s. The industry has staged a strong recovery this year, however. Car sales are strong,

profits have returned to near record levels and indefinite layoffs have declined to less than 30,000.

And both the UAW and companies forecast continued health through 1980, an outlook which both sides say should promote a spirit of harmony and cooperation at the bargaining table.

The UAW will seek increased job security with demands for a reduction in working time without a cut in pay to create more jobs.

It has not made any specific proposals yet. Some militant unionists have called for a 32hour, four-day week, but union leaders say that goal is unattainable this year.

The UAW also will push for an overhaul of company-paid supplemental unemployment benefit (SUB) funds, which went broke at GM and Chrysler in 1975 because of massive long-term layoffs. SUB nor-mally guarantees' laid-off laid-off workers 95 per cent of their take-home pay for up to a year.

Another key demand will focus on improving pension benefits for retirees.

The industry's chief demand is for a restructuring of health care benefits — now paid by the companies — to contain skyrocketing cost increases. The makers hint they would like to pass some of the premium costs to employes, but the union adamantly opposes the idea.

Demands for big acreases have not been increases widespread this year because of unlimited cost-of-living clauses in current contracts which have protected workers from infla-

Belgian Visitors Here Have Some Concepts Of U.S. Changed

"Neighbors don't always argue and settle it with guns; automobiles don't tear down the highways, and the people seem to vote for everything.

That's one European family's new impression of America after their first visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Van Houtven and their two daughters, of Antwerp, Belgium, are visiting the U.S. for the first time as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Benson, 1176 North Euclid avenue, Benton township.

Mrs. Rosa Van Houtven and Mrs. Lissette Benson are sisters and Belgian natives. Benson, who is chairman of the Benton township planning commission, Belgium during World War II.

American politics was one of the "stranger" surprises for the Van Houtvens. "At first we sort of laughed at the politics here, because you have a lot of fight-ing," Van Houtven said. "But the American people seem to see that gives them more of a chance to interfere and as a result, the people are more likely to have an interest in their government."

In Belgium, citizens vote for one of many political parties and the parties, depending on the percentage of the votes it receives, choose leaders to run government. Van Houtven said as a result, the Belgian government is run by parties and only indirectly by citizens.

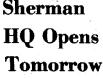

Motorists in the U.S. also disspelled another impression America, "I exected traffic to "On the contrary, everyone seems to go at a friendly pace. Driving in the U.S. is far different from Europe, according to Van Houtven, where the speed limit is about 75 miles per hour "but everyone goes a little faster when nobody's watching." Despite high gas prices (about $1.50 a gallon) and expensive speeding tickets (about $25 for every kilometer over the limit), Van Houtven said Europeans, especially Ger-mans and Austrians, like to speed.

He said high gas prices there are offset by the fact that everyone drives small cars but said the cars all have speedometers which register upwards of 160 kilometers.

Van Houtven appreciates some other aspects of American life. Although she is the only member of the family who does not speak conversational English, her sister, Mrs. Benson, said she has added the words "sales" and "shopping" to her English language vocabulary Campaign headquarters will open Tuesday at 3 p.m. at 164 Pipestone street for Lawrence C. Sherman, candidate for the Democratic nomination for 44th District state legislator.

Announcement was made by Thomas L. McKellar, campaign manager for Sherman, and Mrs. Gloria Richards, campaign coordinator. The public is invited to the opening; refreshment will be served.

Sherman, route I, Benton Harbor, is one of two candidates for the Democratic nomination in the Aug. 3 primary.

McKeller, an Air Force veteran, has associate's degrees from University of Toledo and Monmouth college, West Long Branch, N.J. He is a former Olympic weight lifter and former player with the Cincinnati Bengals professional football team. Before coming to the Benton Harbor area he was employed by Jeep automotive company and Ohio State Highway department.

Mrs. Richards, mother of two. is in charge of volunteers for the Sherman campaign.

Learn About Berrien And Have A Good Time

"Fabulous Fruits of Freedom," a 90-minute pageant depicting the history of Berrien county will be shown Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights this week at the Youth Fair Grounds, Berrien Springs.

Advance indications are that the pageant is well worth seeing.

Howard F. Lancour, director of the Michigan Bicentennial Commission has praised the "ingenuity and imagination" of Berrien's Bicentennial Commission, describing this week's pageant and other Berrien activities as "undoubtedly one of the most outstanding Bicentennial programs in the entire state.'

Tickets to the pageant are $2.50 for adults, $1.50 for children, and $3.50 for reserved seats. The show is scheduled to start at 9:30 each evening and is preceded by a musical program beginning at 8:30.

The pageant should be especially fine fare for family outings. Director Robert Holzman, a professional showman, has been hired to make sure that history comes alive in entertaining fashion. There's action aplenty to keep youngsters' attention riveted on the big stage.

Grownups will like the serious effort that has been made under Paul McAdams, pageant president, to produce an accurate and informative history of the county.

Pick your night, load up the family bus, and find out about the people who lived here before you - all the way back to the Indians. You'll never have a better chance to learn local history

In fact, expect to have a lot of fun.

Aussie Prime Minister Rates A Red Carpet

Australian Prime Minister Malcolm Fraser is scheduled to arrive in San Francisco this week Saturday to begin a six-day official visit to the United States. He deserves red carpet treatment for restoring friendsip between the two nations.

Relations between Australia and the United States, which traditionally had been friendly, often were strained during Gough Whitlam's term as Prime Minister. But Whitlam's Labor Party government was toppled in a special election last December, and Australia's new Prime Minister. Liberal party leader Fraser, has embarked on a campaign of international fence-mending.

Fraser outlined his foreign policy views in a major address to Parliament in June. The speech was

Guess Too Small

Cynics who contend it is the manufacturer who creates the demand among consumers rather than the other way around have not learned much from this year's automobile sales. Rarely have the auto manufacturers missed their sales expectations as widely as they have this year.

Not that 1976 has not been a good year overall for the automobile industry. Sales projections made at the beginning of the year have been exceeded by a fairly large margin. What caught the manufacturers flatfooted was the sales mix the consumer demanded.

When plans for 1976 production were made it was assumed the small car would be the sales leader. Several of the manufacturers announced that full-size models would be made smaller after the 1976 model year.

Not only did the consumer return to the new car market in larger numbers than expected, but his preference was for the larger cars.

Fraser sharply criticized the Soviet Union and called for closer ties with China, Japan and the United States. "It is clearly against Australia's interests for the balance (of power) in this area to move against our major ally, the United States," he said. "Australia and China," he added, "have an interest in seeing that Soviet power in the Pacific and Southeast Asia is balanced by the power of other major states or by appropriate regional arrangements.

On that basis, Fraser said, "we can therefore expect Chinese support of our views on the need for an effective American presence in the Pacific and Indian Oceans. Such support has, in fact, been given."

The Prime Minister's speech was delivered shortly before he traveled to Tokyo and Peking on his first major venture into heads-of-government diplomacy. The highlight of the trip was the signing of a commercial treaty with Japan, which is Australia's major trading partner. Australia already provides Japanese industry with 48 per cent of its iron ore and 37 per cent of its coking coal.

On Fraser's first visit to the United States as Prime Minister he no doubt will concentrate on regional security issues. In one of his first interviews after taking office, he called on the United States to press ahead with construction of a naval base on Diego Garcia, a strategic Indian Ocean island that straddles the air and sea lanes between the Middle East and Asia and Australia. Whitlam had opposed the controversial project.

Fraser will have a number of domestic problems to attend to when he returns to Canberra. Foremost among them are an inflation rate of about 15 per cent and the country's fractious labor unions. Between 1964 and 1974 Australia lost more workdays to strikes than Britain, partly because it still lacks a law requiring unions to vote by secret ballot.

Large wage increases - 70 per cent in the last three years alone - are mainly responsible for the country's double-digit inflation. The average Australian now earns $219 a week in U.S. terms, compared with $172 a week for the average American. In addition, all Australians get four weeks of vacation, during which they receive a bonus of 17.5 per cent extra

All in all, then, it is a good life Down Under. As Fraser pays his respects to this country, many Americans may wish that he would impart the secret of Australia's success to U.S. officials.

Sorry About That

A Saturday editorial mistakenly said U.S. Senator John Glenn was the first astronaut to land on the moon. He was, instead, the first American astronaut to orbit the earth. Several readers reminded us. We knew better. Honest! It was just a slip of the typewriter. Neil Armstrong and Edwin Aldrin were the first astronauts to land on the moon.

Canadian Athletes 'Excited' About Competing In Berrien

I am writing to greet the citizens of Berrien county and tell them that we are looking forward to the CanAmer Games in August.

We have athletes practicing in every park and gymnasium in our area, and everyone is excited about the trip.

We shared your birthday on July 4th on television, and hope that Berrien county had lots of happy events in honor of the day. Be sure to keep a piece of the birthday cake for us.

We hope that the families of the county are offering homes for the boys and girls to be billeted. This is our way of getting to know you, and to share a weekend in the United States. If you have a bed or two, be sure to get in touch with your CanAmer Games committee in Benton Harbor. Don't buy a lot of groceries, our kids like peanut butter and jam sandwiches just like your kids do, and soft drinks are fine for a hot summer day.

We'll try to arrive about 4 p.m. on Friday, August 6th so sit on your porches and watch sure you. They get up in the park while singing the anthem, 'to present a moving target.'

Francis Scott Key. of course, is partly to blame for the matter. A Baltimore attorney, he was on a British warship arranging for the release of a captured friend when Fort McHenry was attacked (in 1814). For the most part, the attack was a minor incident in a minor war, but Key recorded it as an epic poem.

However, it did not become the national anthem until 117 years later, when the nation needed it even more. In 1931, as Depression gripped the people, and as government searched for anything to lift the spirits, a Maryland congressman guided a bill through Congress to make Key's poem the national tune. An old English drinking song of no particular merit was selected as the music

Early on, the only criticism of the song came from musicians who claimed it straightened out their tubas. More recently, however, it has suffered vicious attacks from people with hernias. And too, there are complaints that the words are inappropriately combative. In verse three, for example, Key wrote about the blood of the British which had washed out their "polluted footsteps." The gripe is you can't sing that on a full stomach without an air bag. While accurate, complaints of the anthem's chauvinism are not convincing.

National anthems are traditionally hard-nosed. As for the complaint that it is unsingable, even unsayable, a spokesman at the modern-day Fort McHenry says: "Hell, it written convenience." He wrote it in praise of an idea, a philosophy, a people if you will who need not hit all its notes to be stirred by Hence, to criticize its meter may be unfair, and to suggest its change is futile. Except. Except now that Jimmy Carter is among us, there is hope.

Confident Tide

NEW YORK - No convention of either party since 1932 has nominated a non-incumbent with such a confident air of picking a president, not just a candidate.

The feeling is inescapable here that the election is over as well as the convention.

Such sentiments are premature, of course, because many surprises can occur between now and November and many wise Democratic leaders are already warning of the dangers of overconfidence But it is safe to say that

Jimmy Carter begins his campaign from Madison Square Garden with more built-in advantages than any non-incumbent presidential candidate in more than four decades. Because of his early selection, he has an unusually long time to organize the fall campaign, while by contrast Republican opponent will not be able to think beyond the nomination fight until the end of August. He has the advantage of a unified party free of radical policies, while the Republicans are bitterly divided.

Carter is in a position of maximum flexibility, free of political crippling ganglements or rigid policy commitments. His opposition, by contrast, is saddled with voter tendency to turn out a party after eight years, a record of inflation and recession, lingering clouds of the Watergate crimes, and the fact that only 17 per cent of eligible voters are registered Republicans. The nation's capital is full of

Democrats in law and consulting firms who are left over from the Kennedy and Johnson Administrations and have been waiting impatiently for an opportunity to return to government service. Now is their chance, but the difficulty is that hardly any of them know Carter very well or backed him early in the campaign against the mulmore familiar

Washington who also ran

jockeying is more conspicuous than that going on in the great Secretary of State sweepstakes. Foreign policy experts from past Democratic Administrations who haven't been seen at embassy parties for eight years are suddenly appearing with regularity. Men who publish rarely are now writing long thoughtful pieces for highvisibility publications, where Carter is likely to notice them.

The nearest historical comparison to this aura of optimism and self-confidence that now pervades the Democratic Party is the Republicans in 1952 with Dwight Eisenhower, the great war hero. Harry Truman had been an unpopular president and Eisenhower was far more popular in the countryside than the egghead Adlai Stevenson, the Democrats' choice. But the big difference between 1976 and 1952 is that the Republicans in 1952 were deeply divided, which made Eisenhower's election something less than a sure

Carter is not a sure thing, either. But he appears to have the greatest prospects for success of any party nominee since the Great Depression swept Franklin Roosevelt into the White House in 1932.

Belgian Visitors Here Have Some Concepts Of U.S. Changed

By MIKE WYNGARDEN Staff Writer

"Neighbors don't always argue and settle it with guns; automobiles don't tear down the highways, and the people seem to vote for everything.

That's one European family's new impression of America after their first visit here.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Van Houtven and their two daughters, of Antwerp, Belgium, are visiting the U.S. for the first time as guests of Mr. and Mrs. James Benson, 1176 North Euclid avenue, Benton township.

Mrs. Rosa Van Houtven and Mrs. Lissette Benson are sisters and Belgian natives. Benson. who is chairman of the Benton township planning commission, met and married Lissette in Belgium during World War II.

Van Houtven, a bookkeeper for a Belgian firm, noted it was "just a coincidence" that the comes during the nation's 200th birthday. The family plans to spend about a month with the American politics was one of the "stranger" surprises for the Van Houtvens. "At first we sort of laughed at the politics here, because you have a lot of fighting," Van Houtven said. "But the American people seem to vote for everything and I now see that gives them more of a chance to interfere and as a result, the people are more the Van Houtvens had likely to have an interest in their government."

In Belgium, citizens vote for one of many political parties and the parties, depending on the percentage of the votes it receives, choose leaders to run the government. Van Houtven said as a result, the Belgian government is run by parties and only indirectly by citizens.

Motorists in the U.S. also disspelled another impression

America. "I exected traffic to go enormously fast here," he "On the contrary, everyone seems to go at a friendly pace.

Driving in the U.S. is far different from Europe, according to Van Houtven, where the speed limit is about 75 miles per hour "but everyone goes a little when nobody's watching." Despite high gas prices (about $1.50 a gallon) and expensive speeding tickets (about $25 for every kilometer over the limit), Van Houtven said Europeans, especially Germans and Austrians, like to

He said high gas prices there are offset by the fact that everyone drives small cars but said the cars all have speedometers which register upwards of 160 kilometers.

Van Houtven appreciates some other aspects of American life. Although she is the only member of the family who does not speak conversational English, her sister, Mrs. Benson, said she has added the words "sales" and "shopping" to her English language vocabulary

State police of the Benton Harbor said the sunglasses were similar to those worn by a bandit in robberies at a service station and restaurant in the M-139 area earlier this month. However, the physical description varied - the bandit this morning was described as being taller and heavier than indicated in earlier descriptions, troopers said.

Spanish Art

TOLEDO, Ohio (AP) - A major work by Spanish painter Bartolme Esteban Murillo has been acquired by the Toledo Museum of Art.

Otto Wittmann, museum director, described the six-byfive foot "Adoration of the Magi" as "the most important Spanish painting to be acquired by the Museum in almost two decades.

The painting is said to have been painted around 1650 in Seville. Murillo lived from 1618 to 1682, devoting most of his time to working for Seville's numerous churches religious orders.

"It is only this year, for example, that we have managed to eliminate different pay scales for men and for women in industry," she said. "The unions have said they will sign no more contracts unless the scales are

Only 34 per cent of the women in Israel are employed, she said, and one reason is that a large proportion are untrained and unskilled

"We have found that 75 per cent of the women who have academic training do work, and so we are trying to educate and train those who have none,' Mrs. Eshel said.

The Working Women's Council - with help from groups like Pioneer Women, the women's labor ionist organization of America, which Mrs. Eshel was visiting here - is building day care centers, boarding schools for children without homes, providing adult education programs and lobbying for more public schooling.

Israeli public schools close at 1 p.m., she said, and her group is lobbying for longer school hours. "The school doesn't perform as it should," she said. There are many educational and social problems that the Israeli government - preoccupied with military and economic problems - is unable to confront, she said.

'We are a heterogeneous society and a small country.' Mrs. Eshel said. "We cannot afford to postpone social and educational problems - so the voluntary organizations are called upon to do much more than they do in other nations.'

Mrs. Eshel, who represented Israel as a member of the permanent mission to the United Nations here in 1955, was accorded rank of ambassador in 1968 when she represented

Mass Kidnap Plan Took Months

Associated Press Writer CHOWCHBLA, Calif. (AP) — The motive is still a mystery. But the methods used by three silent, masked men who kid-naped 26 children and their bus driver make one thing clear — it was a crime planned out to the fullest, months in advance.

But it didn't work. The hildren escaped.

Still, that the captors could match a busiced of mostly tiny children in daylight from a town here everyone seems to know everyone else, and then frustrate extensive search efforts by FBI, state and local law officers for more than 24 hours, testifies to their thorough preparation. When the plan was hatched is

As far back as November 1975, however, one of the suspects is known to have bought three government surplus vans, one of which authorities have traced to the kidnaping. He paid with cash.

Two of the three he bought were never registered. The other was registered two days before the crime in Los Gatos, near San Jose. Because of that, investigators said they had to search for records of the van by hand since the information hadn't been filed in the Department of Motor Vehicles com-

'Your Problems' By Ann Landers

Aged Are Non-Persons

Dear Ann Landers: That letter from the young man who signed himself " A Non-Person" really got to me. You said, "Everyone is Somebody - there are no "non-persons." You are wrong. If you don't believe me, just visit a home for the aged.

When people are ignored by family and friends or treated as if they have lived too long, they become dehumanized - or nonpersons.

The abuse of the elderly in our country is on the increase, and one need only read the Senate reports to see what I mean. If your readers would volunteer to become ombudsmen to help ease the loneliness of those unfortunate people in our longterm facilities, we will one day have places away from home where people LIVE - not just human warehouses where they are put away to die.

Viking's elemental purpose is the quest for life on another planet, the attempt to determine whether life on Earth is a miracle or merely a statistic.

That search will begin 25 seconds after landing, when Viking's cameras — two lob-ster-like eyes on either side of the vehicle — hegin shooting pictures of the surface of Mars. The first picture will be of one of the lander's three footpads and the ground around it. The cameras then will rise slowly and take in a panoramic view of the landing area. Transmission from Mars to the orbiting Viking "mothership" and then back to earth will take several minutes. Earthlings will get their first surface look at Mars at about 5:45 a.m. PDT on July

However, when members of the Viking team were shown several pictures of earthly terrain and were asked which scene they thought Mars would most closely resemble, there was a clear consensus deserts of North Africa

Mass Kidnap Plan Took Months

By PETER H. KING

Associated Press Writer CHOWCHILLA, Calif. (AP) — The motive is still a mystery. But the methods used by three silent, masked men who kidnaped 26 children and their bus driver make one thing clear - it was a crime planned out to the fullest, months in advance. But it didn't work. The children escaped.

Still, that the captors could snatch a busload of mostly tiny children in daylight from a town where everyone seems to know everyone else, and then frustrate extensive search efforts by FBI, state and local law officers for more than 24 hours, testifies to their thorough preparation.

When the plan was hatched is unknown. As far back as November 1975, however, one of the suspects is known to have bought three government surplus vans, one of which authorities have traced to the kidnaping. He paid with cash.

Two of the three he bought were never registered. The other was registered two days before the crime in Los Gatos, near San Jose. Because of that, investigators said they had to search for records of the van by hand since the information hadn't been filed in the Department of Motor Vehicles computer.

The name and San Jose address the van was registered under turned out to be phony, according to Madera County Sheriff Ed Bates.

The vans were well equipped for a flight from the scene of the

- CB radios, ideal for monitoring police activity, but made even more useful by the gabby "CB volunteers" who blasted out from Chowchilla nearly every tidbit of information known about the investigation.

- Painted windows, so no one could see out - or in - and a tent-like tarp made the roundabout route to the gravel pits 100 miles away a mystery to those inside.

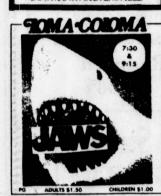

- A good supply of extra gasoline which kept the kidnapers from having to pull into a service station and taking the risk of an attendant being tipped off.

California Highway Patrolmen had quickly alerted gas stations on the major routes in the San Joaquin Valley about the kidnaping and had told them to report any suspicious looking

The children were buried for nearly 18 hours in a World War II vintage military moving van about 25 feet long. It was buried in a spot in the quarry that was not being worked. The spot was surrounded by brush up to six feet tall.

Tests of soil samples taken from the site show the truck had been buried there less than a year, Alameda County inves-more, the kidnapers had an ex-tigators said. They added that there are numerous back roads to the spot and kidnapers could have easily driven in to work on the cavern at night without being seen.

> "The roof was shored up with four-by-fours," said Alameda County Sheriff Tom Houchins.

> Whoever they were, they obviously took a great deal of time to fix it up. There was a fresh supply of food - sandwiches. potato chips, and the like, mattresses, bedspreads and a water supply.

Two exaust fans had been rigged in the truck and large batteries to power them had been buried next to it. The wiring from the battery had recently been installed, Houchins said. The kidnapers had placed dried brush about the area for further camouflage A portable toilet was installed inside the truck

Once the kidnapers began to carry out their plan, they did it with apparent precision. From when the man with the doublebarreled shotgun first commandeered the school bus Thursday afternoon, until when the children escaped more than a day later, the men barely had to speak to one another.

The direct route from Chowchilla to the hide-out normally takes about an hour and a half. It took the kidnapers 11 hours of continuous driving. But despite the roundabout route, the kidnapers apparently needed to communicate very little.

A Chowchilla woman jotted down one of the van's license plate numbers when she grew suspicious of the two vans loitering a day before the kidnap-

Police Think Doctor May

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) — Police are investigating the possibility that a prison doctor found shot to death Saturday have known her slayer

Dr. Jay K. Harness, health care director for the Michigan Department of Corrections, said his office is working with police investigating the death of Dr. Cirnthia Miller, 29, director of omen's division at the Detroit House of Correctings in Plymouth.

Southfield police found Dr. Miller slumped behind the wheel of her 1973 Fiat on Interstate 696 Saturday, dead from multiple gunshot wounds to the imposed bonds ranging up to $65,000.

Dr. Harness said the investigation, will include Dehoco and Jackson Prison, where the woman worked before becoming the first female physician at the Plymouth prison Dec. 1, 1975.

Southfield police estimate Dr.

An Ann Arbor man, Rufus Walsh, told police Dr. Miller must have been in Ann Arbor between 10 and 10:30 Saturday. Walsh said he found a note of

The woman lived with her two sisters. One of them, Madeline Miller, said, "We know absolu-tely nothing. We're all as bewildered as anyone."

Dr. Miller joined the Correc-tions Department last August after serving her internship at the University of Cincinnati Medical Center. An honors graduate from the University of Wisconsin Medical School, she also had attended the University of Misching of Michigan.

Dr. Harness said Dr. Miller had "a deep concern" for social problems. She instituted a birth control program for furloughed inmates, and a medical selfeducation program to teach women about venereal disease and breast examinations.

Viking's elemental purpose is the quest for life on another planet, the attempt to determine whether life on Earth is a miracle or merely a statistic.

That search will begin 25 seconds after landing, when Viking's cameras - two lobster-like eyes on either side of the vehicle - begin shooting pictures of the surface of Mars.

The first picture will be of one of the lander's three footpads and the ground around it. The cameras then will rise slowly and take in a panoramic view of the landing area. Transmission from Mars to the orbiting Viking "mothership" and then back to earth will take several minutes. Earthlings will get their first surface look at Mars at about 5:45 a.m. PDT on July

However, when members of the Viking team were shown several pictures of earthly terrain and were asked which scene they thought Mars would most closely resemble, there was a clear consensus - the deserts of North Africa.

Patroling 'Hooker's Alley'

DETROIT (AP) - Grimfaced housewives carrying picket signs reading "Whores Keep Out" have replaced laidoff vice squad patrol officers in the city's "Hooker's Alley." The housewives and area residents have been patrolling the streets to clear it of prostitutes, because, they say, there are no police left to do it. The vice squad was reduced by two-thirds July I when nearly 1,000 police officers were laid off in the city's budget-cutting efforts. Since then, police say, prostitutes who used to linger in doorways and bars have started approaching motorists stopped in the area for traffic lights. "Word travels quickly on the street, and when the hookers knew there were fewer officers out there, they came out of the woodwork in droves," said Sgt. Walter Heinrich of the vice

Police Think Doctor May Have Known Her Slayer

SOUTHFIELD, Mich. (AP) -Police are investigating the possibility that a prison doctor found shot to death Saturday may have known her slayer through her work.

Dr. Jay K. Harness, health care director for the Michigan Department of Corrections, said his office is working with police investigating the death of Dr. Cynthia Miller, 29, director of the state-run women's division at the Detroit House of Correctings in Plymouth.

Southfield police found Dr. Miller slumped behind the wheel of her 1973 Fiat on Interstate 696 Saturday, dead from multiple gunshot wounds to the

Yanks Fleeing Lebanon Tuesday

By FAROUK NASSAR Associated Press Writer

BEIRUT, Lebanon (AP) -The U.S. Embassy announced today that its evacuation of Americans and others from Beirut Tuesday would be by road convoy to Damascus.

Chartered planes will fly the evacuees immediately from the Syrian capital to Athens, embassy sources in the Greek capital reported.

There was speculation that ships of the U.S. 6th Fleet would be standing by offshore to take the evacuees off should the overland route be declared unsafe. But there was no confirmation of this from the Em-

A road convoy also was planned for the Embassy's first evacuation, in mid-June. But because of hostilities along the route, the Navy removed the 110 Americans and 157 other foreigners who wanted to leave.

The response to the U.S. government's second warning that Americans should leave Lebanon has not been great. The Embassy said 125 Americans, 36 non-American dependents and 176 other foreigners had registered to go. However, the Embassy records show more than 1,000 American citizens still in Lebanon, but most of them are of Lebanese birth with dual Lebanese and American citizenship.

The evacuees were told to assemble at a seaside hotel in Beirut's Moslem sector early Tuesday. Buses would be on hand for those without cars, the instructions said, but they would not be allowed to take

As the countdown for the evacuation began, the joint Palestinian and leftist Lebanese Moslem command reported right-wing Christian forces launched their 61st tank-sup-

Christians and Moslems also made hit-and-run raids during the night along the two-mile line separating Beirut's Moslem and Christian sectors. Hospital and security sources estimated more than 80 persons killed and 100 wounded during the night.

The leftists reported Syrian troops were making machinegun attack on the Nahr el Bared refugee camp on the eastern edge of Tripoli, the Moslems' largest city in northern Lebanon. The communique said the Palestinians were returning the fire.

Both the Moslems and the Christians reported that the Syrians were moving more troops and tanks into Sofar, a summer resort 12 miles east of Beirut that controls a mountain pass on the Beirut-Damascus highway. The Moslems' Beirut Radio charged this was a prelude for an offensive to 'consolidate Syria's occupation of two thirds of Lebanon and finish off the Palestinian guerrilla movement.'

Yankee Tourists Attacked In Mexico

By DOUG STONE Associated Press Writer

TIJUANA, Mexico (AP) -Armed Mexican troops patrolled the U.S.-Mexico border and tourist-filled Pacific Coast beaches this weekend in efforts to halt a wave of terrorist attacks on American visitors.

Officials called out the troops Friday after reports that American citizens had been assaulted, terrorized and robbed. The soldiers roamed the border and the popular beaches of the Baja peninsula.

The children and their bus driver clawed their way to safety from a buried truck body where three masked gunman had imprisoned them for a day and a half after hijacking their school bus.

"We wanted to show them the product of their prayers," Mrs. John Brown III said at worship services at First Baptist Church. "We figured it didn't really matter where we went to church," she said, explaining that the family was not attending its usual church.

Her husband offered simple gratitude for the safe return of Jeffrey, 10, and Jennifer, 9:

He was reported alone in the truck.

Dildine reported he was forced off the road about 5:45 p.m. by an auto that hit his truck from behind, but police said no evidence of such a collision could be determined.

Patroling 'Hooker's Alley'

DETROIT (AP) - Grimfaced housewives carrying picket signs reading "Whores Keep Out" have replaced laidoff vice squad patrol officers in the city's "Hooker's Alley." The housewives and area residents have been patrolling the streets to clear it of prostitutes, because, they say, there are no police left to do it. The vice squad was reduced by two-thirds July 1 when nearly 1,000 police officers were laid off in the city's budget-cutting efforts. Since then, police say, prostitutes who used to linger in doorways and bars have started approaching motorists stopped in the area for traffic lights. "Word travels quickly on the street, and when the hookers knew there were fewer officers out there, they came out of the woodwork in droves," said Sgt. Walter Heinrich of the vice

They Want To Testify

ANN ARBOR, Mich. (AP) - More than 20 Washtenaw County sheriff's deputies wish to testify about jail beatings and other misconduct concerning Sheriff Fred Postill but are afraid of losing their jobs, according to their union. The deputies' allegations were included in a petition filed with county officals by their Teamsters union local. The union asked that the deputies be protected from firing by Postill in exchange for their testimony. The officers' petition was contained in a grievance filed on behalf of deputy Basil Baysinger, who was suspended after a fistfight with Postill and Jail Administrator Frank Donley. County Corporation Counsel Robert Guenzel refused to forward the petition asking immunity for the deputies to the board of commissioners, saying the body could not prevent firings by Postill.

WASHINGTON (AP) - If the Jimmy Carter family moves to Washington after the November elections, 8-year-old Amy Carter may be sent to the oldest public school in the District of Columbia. In his speech accepting the Democratic presidential nomination, Carter was critical of "exclusive private schools" that allow the children of the "political and economic elite" to avoid public schools that are considered dangerous or inferior. And Rex Granum, the nominee's press director, says if Carter is elected, he will send Amy to public schools "as a statement of principle." The 26 children and their driver, on a homeward run from summer school, were forced at gunpoint from their bus and herded into two small vans near the Madera County town of Chowchilla, a small farming community in the heart of the San Joaquin Valley.

Their captors drove them nearly 100 miles to a gravel quarry near Livermore in Alameda County in the southern San Francisco Bay area and forced them into an underground bunker constructed on an old truck bed. The captives dug their way out Friday night after the three masked men left.

Aide Hints N. Dakota Was Reagan's Waterloo

Ronald Reagan are saying privately he "may have reached the end of the presidential political trail," according to the Washington Post.

The newspaper quoted an unnamed Reagan aide as saying the chances for Reseau to succeed in edging out President Ford for the Republican presidential nomination were lost 10 days ago in North Dakota. The Post said Ford won 12 delegates there to four for Reagan and two who are uncommitted. It said the Reagan camp had expected 10 or 11 delegates.

But an Associated Press survey of North Dakota delegates elected at the state convention July 8 found 10 for Ford, three for Reagan and 5 uncommitted.

'North Dakota was the turning point. When we failed to get the delegates we needed there, it put us in bad shape," the aide said, according to a story by Post reporter Lou Cannon in Monday's editions of the newspaper.

Jim Lake, Reagan's press secretary, told The Associated Press "we don't feet that way at all. Not anybody." Michael K. Deaver, the Reagan campaign's chief of staff, denied that North

News Poll Says Ford Could Beat Carter In Michigan

DETROIT (AP) — President Gerald Ford could defeat Democrat Jimmy Carter in Michigan ii be could appear on the November presidential ballot without a running mate, ecording to a Detroit News poll. But the copyrighted survey shows the president would lose to Carter if Ford was paired with any of four likely running mates. The running mates paired with Ford were Ronald Reagan,

Editot Richardson, Edward Brooke and John Connally. Asked which presidential candidate they preferred candidate they preferred without considering the second spot on either ticket, the 700 Michigan voters surveyed gave Ford a three per cent edge over Carter, 41-38 per cent. The remaining 21 per cent were untage points for the President over Carter compared with last month.

But when Ford was paired with any of the four likely run ning mates, his lead evaporated and his total dropped behind Carter's by three to 10 points.

The poll also showed Carter would swamp Reagan, the other Republican bopeful, in Michigan's presidential elec-tion. Carter was favored by 51 per cent of Michigan voters over Reagan's 21 per cent.

President Ford plans to en-ertain still-uncommitted delegates at the White House this week, while challenger Ronald Reagan will be digging some post holes for fences at his California ranch and telephoning delegates to the Republican National Convention who still are on the "fence."

Democratic team, presidential nominee Jimmy Carter and running mate Walter Mondale, relaxed during the weekend. Carter was at his home in Plains, Ga., and Mondale vacationed at a friend's cabin in Minnesota and went fishing. With four weeks left before the convention in Kansas City, Ford took a day off from delegate-hunting Sunday, at-tending church in the morning and spending the afternoon on the golf course.

He invited delegations from New York and New Jersey to White House receptions this week as be personalized his efforts to win over the final delegates he needs.

the Aug. 16-19 convention ended Saturday with Ford sweeping all 35 in Connecticut and Reagan taking all 20 in Utah.

With all 2,259 delegates for the convention now selected, The Associated Press count of an-nounced or mandated delegate votes shows 1.066 for Ford and 1,020 for Reagan, with 172 un-committed and 1 for Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn. It takes 1.130 to win. The AP count does not include those merely leaning toward one or the other.

With Reagan trailing Ford by 46 votes, the nomination is in the hands of the 172 uncommitted delegates, many of whom have met or talked on the telephone with both Reagan and Ford in recent weeks.

The Washington Post report-ed today that some unnamed "top aides and supporters" of Reagan have said privately that be will be unable to win the GOP

Want Fresh Air? Get Up Nerve And Wing Walk

By PATRICK CONNOLLY Associated Press Writer

DETROIT (AP) - Wingwalking is an unforgettable way to get a big breath of fresh air.

It's like standing on top of a ladder while somebody kicks the legs. But the ladder is high enough to reach the windows of an 80-story building - and

For 22-year-old Steve Trevor. a soft-spoken pre-med student at the University of California in Irvine, standing on his head on the wing of a twirling, looping biplane is "relaxing."

Relaxing? Not exactly, in the opinion of a reporter who is more accustomed to sitting at a typewriter than standing on the wing of a bouncing plane.

Trevor, a muscular acrobat who dangled by his hands and feet and turned upside down near the St. Louis, Mo., arch for millions of national television viewers on the Fourth of July, is connected to a power-enhanced 1943 Super Stearman biplane by a cord around his wrist. A wrong move as he banks over the heads of air show spectators could result in broken bones or is mentally relaxing - as opeven a fall, he says.

Insurance for this risky work costs $8.15 for the summer because he gets it as a student from the University, Trenor

The pilot of the act, Joe C. Hughes, 44, of Huntington Beach, Calif., said at a weekend Detroit air show, "I know every one of his moves. If anything ever goes wrong, I'll pull back the stick (sending the plane into a vertical climb) and he'll fall into the cockpit.'

Hughes, a congenial barnstormer with a big handlebar moustache who has had the act for about seven years with three different stuntmen, says, "I have an awful lot of experience with men-on-the-wing and know the fallacies. For someone without much experience, it could be a marginal thing. And I try to avoid marginal situa-

Trenor, an active student who heads a campus American Cancer Society program, said, "The condensed concentration

"I also like it because of the airplane people. They are a special breed. They have a better idea of what kind of freedom there is in the skies." said Trenor.

Before you learn to wingwalk you must learn to wingcrawl, which you do by clambering through a maze of wires and struts to the top wing of Hughes' red and white biplane. You jam your feet onto two small metal platforms covered with leather footholds, which don't appear much more substantial than the grips that used to hold your feet to rollerskates as a kid.

The small of your back leans against a hand-size metal brace. A thick canvas belt, which is connected to a metal bar protruding from the wing like a lightning rod, is tightened around your middle. The belt around your waist is your elected at the state convention July 8 found 10 for Ford, three for Reagan and 5 uncommitted.

"North Dakota was the turning point. When we failed to get the delegates we needed there, it put us in bad shape," the aide said, according to a story by Post reporter Lou Cannon in Monday's editions of the newspaper

Jim Lake, Reagan's press secretary, told The Associated Press "we don't feel that way at all. Not anybody." Michael K. Deaver, the Reagan campaign's chief of staff, denied that North Dakota was a setback

"I believe we got in North Dakota exactly what we planned for," Deaver told The AP.

'In fact, the governor made some followup calls from the hotel in Utah to North Dakota delegates. We are confident most of those uncommitted delegates will be coming out for the governor next week."

'North Dakota was not a setback, not at all," Deever said. Reagan said prior to the North Dakota convention that he hoped for and needed "roughly an even split" there. The AP survey gives the President a lead of 1,066 delegates to Reagan's 1,020 with 172 uncommitted. The votes of 1,130 delegates are needed

News Poll Says Ford Could Beat Carter In Michigan

DETROIT (AP) - President Gerald Ford could defeat Democrat Jimmy Carter in Michigan if he could appear on the November presidential ballot without a running mate, according to a Detroit News

But the copyrighted survey shows the president would lose to Carter if Ford was paired with any of four likely running

The running mates paired with Ford were Ronald Reagan, Elliot Richardson, Edward Brooke and John Connally.

Asked which presidential candidate they preferred without considering the second spot on either ticket, the 700 Michigan voters surveyed gave Ford a three per cent edge over Carter, 41-38 per cent. The remaining 21 per cent were undecided.

It was a gain of two percentage points for the President over Carter compared with results of a similar poll taken last month.

But when Ford was paired with any of the four likely running mates, his lead evaporated and his total dropped behind Carter's by three to 10 points. The poll also showed Carter would swamp Reagan, the other Republican hopeful, in Michigan's presidential election. Carter was favored by 51 per cent of Michigan voters over Reagan's 21 per cent.

The poll, conducted by

Ford, Reagan Struggle For 172 Uncommitteds

By ASSOCIATED PRESS

President Ford plans to enstill-uncommitted delegates at the White House this week, while challenger Ronald Reagan will be digging some post holes for fences at his California ranch and telephoning delegates to the Republican National Convention who still are on the "fence."

Democratic team, presidential nominee Jimmy Carter and running mate Walter Mondale, relaxed during the weekend. Carter was at his home in Plains, Ga., and Mondale vacationed at a friend's cabin in Minnesota and went

With four weeks left before the convention in Kansas City, Ford took a day off from delegate-hunting Sunday, attending church in the morning and spending the afternoon on the golf course

He invited delegations from New York and New Jersey to White House receptions this week as he personalized his efforts to win over the final delegates he needs.

Reagan today started what he said would be a two-week vacation at his 688-acre ranch in the coastal mountains near Santa Barbara.

measured.

"I think I've got some more fences to put up. I'll be digging some post holes, generally working around the place," he said after the last 55 of 2,259 delegates to the convention were elected Saturday in Utah and

The selection of delegates to the Aug. 16-19 convention ended Saturday with Ford sweeping all 35 in Connecticut and Reagan taking all 20 in Utah

With all 2,259 delegates for the convention now selected, The Associated Press count of announced or mandated delegate votes shows 1,066 for Ford and 1.020 for Reagan, with 172 uncommitted and 1 for Sen. Howard Baker, R-Tenn. It takes 1,130 to win. The AP count does not include those merely leaning toward one or the other.

With Reagan trailing Ford by 46 votes, the nomination is in the hands of the 172 uncommitted delegates, many of whom have met or talked on the telephone with both Reagan and Ford in recent weeks.

The Washington Post reported today that some unnamed 'top aides and supporters" of Reagan have said privately that he will be unable to win the GOP

The newspaper said some of these aides feel Reagan's chances for success were lost 10 days ago when Ford captured a majority of North Dakota's 18 delegates

However, Michael K. Deaver, the Reagan campaign's chief of staff, denied that North Dakota had been a setback, telling The Associated Press, "I believe we got in North Dakota exactly what we planned for."

Deaver said the campaign staff will prepare a daily memo with a list of uncommitted delegates for Reagan to telephone.

Neither Reagan nor any of his aides would say exactly how they expect to pull their upset; how they are going to defy the numbers in the delegate count.

'I'm optimistic, but I don't think anyone will really know until the first ballot is counted," Reagan said in an interview on the flight home from Salt Lake

Facial Pain Can Mean Nervousness, Irritability

Acker-

that for

Consider the following situation: A young lady visits Ackerman Chiropractic Center and three weeks she has had a slight pain over one eye. After examining the patient thoroughly Dr. Ackerman commences treatment and asks her to return the following day. When she comes in for her second appointment, she announces, "I don't know what you did, but I find that I am completely relaxed again. . . you know, not jittery and nervous . . . and the pain is gone!

We asked Dr. Ackerman to explain such a dramatic change in temperament and attitude. And for that matter, what this problem is.

"The trouble is a low grade irritation of what-because it has three branchesis known as the trigeminal Dr. Ackerman said "It's the nerve that is involved in what is generally known as facial neuritis."

Dr. Ackerman notes that often when face pain is complained of he can examine the patient and find abnormally tender points on all three branches of the trigeminal nerve even though a patient may be unaware that one or two of the branches are affected. In the example above it's problem that the branch which is connected to would be irritated to the extent to make the patient aware of the pain.

"As for the rapid change in the pain and anguish, I might say that this is possible when action is taken on the trouble as soon as it is noticed. That would account for the dramatic results from the treatment," says Dr. Ackerman.

"Had the hypothetical young lady waited until she had acute facial neuritis," he continued, "the treatments of course, would not have produced such startling results.'

Dr. Ackerman notes that it is not unusual for persons to wait for "little hurts" to go "Unfortunately, an individual typically figures isolated pain points are not too important. They take a pain pill and forget about it. I'd like to think it's needless to say that these little irritations are going to return and return until a serious problem develops," he states.

The point is that nerve irritations are caused. "That's the key word. according to Dr. Ackerman "They just don't happen. And the only avenue to correction is to find that cause. And until it's found, there will be nervous irritability that this woman suffered.

reminds that "little pain is the easy way out. I mean.' says Dr. Ackerman, "take notice of nature's DEW system . that's Distance Early Warning. It can save a lifetime of misery or long drawn-out treatment care. Dr. Ackerman maintains offices at 3918 Red Arrow the nerves above the eye Hwy., St. Joseph (Telephone 429-1700.)

Landfill Host Township Doesn't Want Any More

WASHINGTON TOWNSHIP, dotted with old gravel pits. One Mich. (AP) - Residents of this rural community have dug their heels into their sandy soil and declared that they do not wish to preside over a three-county garbage dump.

And to keep it from happening, they have organized, assessed themselves a special tax and hired an attorney.

At That Moment

DONE

Who thought of it first is beyond knowing. It had been the dream of so many so long; a railroad stretching across the land from sea to sea; a continent at last united; a nation's destiny made truly manifest with a bond of steel. With the Civil War ended, the dream could become a promise.

Starting from Sacramento, Calif., the Central Pacific, with a labor force of 6,000 Chinese immigrants, pushed eastward through the white-crowned Sierras, the parched desert. Starting from Ornaha, Neb., the Union Pacific, with its force of adventurous, brawling Irishmen, pushed westward across the boundless prairies, the torturous Rockies. After five years of great striving of Rockies. After five years of great striving, of sweating and cursing and dyng, the tracks

Monday, May 10, 1869, is bright and chilly at a place in the high wilderness north of Great Salt Lake designated Promontory Point, Utah. A skim of ice covers puddles and a stiff wind tears at a small American flag atop a telegraph pole near a gap in the tracks where the last two rails will be placed. Nearby, 14 tent saloons advertise potables with names as tusty as their kick — Red Cloud, Blue Run, Red Jacket. Business is brisk. A few settlers straggle in on horseback. Three companies of U.S. In-fantry, en route to San Francisco, show up with a band. All is ready.

Just before noon, shrill whistles, one from the east, one from the west, announce that the trains are approaching; on the western track, the Central Pecific's locomotive, the track, the Central Pacific's locomotive, the Jupiter, with its funnel stack; on the eastern track, the Union Pacific's locomotive No. 119. They stop. A polished laurel tie is put in place with holes pre-drilled to receive two spikes, one of California gold, the other of Nevada silver. The silver spike is fixed so that when it is tapped in place it will close a telegraph circuit and a single word will flash across, wires from coast to coast; "Done."

A team of Irish railhands swings one rail across the waiting ties; a team of Chinese, in clean blue jackets, swings the other. They slam iron spikes in place to hold the rails in the ties — all except one, the laurel tie. From the western train, Central Pacific director Leland Stanford strides forward with a silreplated seamort strikes forward with a su-verplated sledge hammer; from the eastern train steps Union Pacific vice president Thomas C. Durant. Both make byief speeches. A minister offers a prayer; Stan-ford and Durant stand over the laurel tie, smile, take up their sledges and drive home the silver and gold spikes. Done.

After the spike-driving ceremony, photographer Andrew J. Russell asked the two engineers of the railroads to step out from and shake hands. Samuel S. Montague of the Central Pacific and Grenville M. Dodge of the Union Pacific posed, hunds clasped, and a moment in history was frozen on Russell's fragile glass negative. After the photo, champagne flowed, along with the Red Jacket and Blue Run, and, inevitably, souvenir hunters carved up no fewer than six railroad ties for keepsake slivers. The laurel tie, along with the ceremonial spikes, had been safely removed.

Remember Radio Days Of 'One Man's Family'

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) - Barbours, and gave the scripts The name Carlton K. Morse never was a household word, but his brainchild, "One Man's Family," once poured from radios and televisions into millions of American homes across three decades

Although Morse, 75, concedes that the popular "One Man's Family" may have been the forerunner of the soap opera, he bristles when the term is used to describe his show

The first thing learn is that 'One Man's NBC's western network and Family' was not a seap opera," he said during an interview at his home in Woodside, south of

'It was a dramatic family show. Soap operas are written by hack writers," he said derisively. "They have no characterization or plot.
"Until 'One Man's Family'

there was no such thing as a family show," Morse said. After we came on, everybody had to have one. That's when the soap operas came about." "One Man's Family," which ran on radio from 1832 to 1859 the last five years also on television — was the longest unning serial drama in American radio.

It told the story of San Francisco stockbroker Henry Bar-bour, his wife Hazel and their five children — Paul, Hazel, Claudia, Cliff and Jack.

Maree says he had no idea the it did. In fact, the first man who saw the proposal told him he was through in radio.

"I wrote three episodes of the

to an executie at NBC radio in San Francisco," Morse said.
"He read them and said 'Morse, you're through! You're all written out. Go away, and if you get any new ideas, send them in."

But Morse persisted, and finally NBC general manager Don Gillman said Morse could put his show on the air for six

'We went on two or three stations," Morse remembers. "In one month we were on al after a year we went nation-wide."

Morse recalled one episode when Claudia eloped to Reno. "That was a shocking thing to her father. He said she was adcouldn't control her emotions.

"Why is it that teenage sexual activity is so rampant now?" he asked. "No one's protesting against it. But a few adults on mixed up in Washington, D.C. and the whole country is shocked."

Who thought of it first is beyond knowing. It had been the dream of so many so long: a railroad stretching across the land from sea to sea; a continent at last united; a nation's destiny made truly manifest with a bond of steel. With the Civil War ended, the dream could become a promise.

Starting from Sacramento, Calif., the Central Pacific, with a labor force of 6,000 Chinese immigrants, pushed eastward through the white-crowned Sierras, the parched desert. Starting from Omaha, Neb., the Union Pacific, with its force of adventurous, brawling Irishmen, pushed westward across the boundless prariries, the torturous Rockies. After five years of great striving, of sweating and cursing and dyng, the tracks

Monday, May 10, 1869, is bright and chilly at a place in the high wilderness north of Great Salt Lake designated Promontory Point, Utah. A skim of ice covers puddles and a stiff wind tears at a small American flag atop a telegraph pole near a gap in the tracks where the last two rails will be placed. Nearby, 14 tent saloons advertise potables with names as lusty as their kick - Red Cloud, Blue Run, Red Jacket. Business is brisk. A few settlers straggle in on horseback. Three companies of U.S. Infantry, en route to San Francisco, show up with a band. All is ready

Just before noon, shrill whistles, one from the east, one from the west, announce that the trains are approaching: on the western track, the Central Pacific's locomotive, the Jupiter, with its funnel stack; on the eastern track, the Union Pacific's locomotive No. 119. They stop. A polished laurel tie is put in place with holes pre-drilled to receive two spikes, one of California gold, the other of Nevada silver. The silver spike is fixed so that when it is tapped in place it will close a telegraph circuit and a single word will flash across wires from coast to coast: "Done.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) -The name Carlton K. Morse never was a household word, but his brainchild, "One Man's Family," once poured from radios and televisions into millions of American homes across three decades.

Although Morse, 75, concedes that the popular "One Man's Family" may have been the forerunner of the soap opera, he bristles when the term is used to describe his show

"The first thing you must learn is that 'One Man's Family' was not a soap opera," he said during an interview at his home in Woodside, south of San Francisco. "It was a dramatic family show. Soap operas are written by hack writers," he said derisively. "They have no characterization or plot.

'Until 'One Man's Family' there was no such thing as a family show," Morse said. "After we came on, everybody had to have one. That's when the soap operas came about."

"One Man's Family," which ran on radio from 1932 to 1959 the last five years also on television — was the longest running serial drama in American radio.

It told the story of San Francisco stockbroker Henry Barbour, his wife Hazel and their five children - Paul, Hazel, Claudia, Cliff and Jack.

Morse says he had no idea the show would become the success it did. In fact, the first man who saw the proposal told him he was through in radio.

"I wrote three episodes of the

No actual times were available immediately.

Brisk westerly winds Satur-day and Sunday had brought the promise of the fastest long course race ever. With the heavy winds, the advantage was with the large, Class A boats.

Last year, Agressive II, a Class B boat, won the overall championship.

"It's a fast race and they're really going," said Konstantine Cost, race chairman. "They've got good wind out on the lake and it's clear. There aren't any fluky spots.'

Cost said he believed a Class A boat would win overall honors this year.

The fleet was running close together late Sunday with only 70 miles between the front-runner and the stragglers.

U.S. Men Sweep To Fast Swimming Start

Romanian Gymnast Achieves Olympic Games First

By BOB GREEN AP Sports Writer

MONTREAL (AP) - The American men swept their swimming event, the East German women dominated theirs and the Russians started a fuss. All were more or less expected in the first full day of competition in the Olympic Games, but the perfect performance by an 88-pound, 4-foot-11, teenage Romanian girl couldn't be anticipated. It'd never happened before.

And that's what started the Larissa Latynine, the Russian coach whose charges normally dominate gymnastics, tossed a disgusted look at the judges who had awarded little Nadia Comaneci a perfect score of 10 for her performance on the uneven parallel bars in the compulsory exercises.

"I question the perfor-' said the Russian coach, obviously seeing major competition for her stars, Ludmila Toukrischeva and Olga Korbut

"I can see a 9.5, but it should not have been a 10. There were some flaws. It was not perfect," the Russian coach said.

The judges said otherwise. And the poker-faced 15-year-old marvel who achieved the Olympics' first perfect performance agreed. "I knew it was a 10 all the way," she said.

She responded to the ovation with a shy little smile, a rare occurance for Little Miss Stoneface, returned to the podium and let waves of sound and adoration wash over her.

But while the Russians may have taken a setback there, they picked up two of the five gold medals awarded in Sunday's first day of competition; the Americans scored a 1-2-3 sweep in the only men's swimming event; the East Germans got two golds - one their first ever in women's swimming, the sport they're expected to dominate in the quadrennial Games that run through Aug. 1, and the American basketball team won handily.

Mike Bruner, easily spotted by his shaved head that led the way through the water, had to set a world record to beat out teammate Steve Gregg, Wilmington, Del., to win the men's 200-meter butterfly

Bruner, a 20-year-old Stanford sophomore, was timed in 1:59.23. Gregg also broke the old world record at 1:59.54. Billy Forrester, Birmingham, Ala., took the bronze in 1:59.96

Long John Nabor, a towering European championships. 6-foot-6'er from Menlo Park, Calif., also set a world record. 56.19 in qualifying heats for the 100-meter backstroke but wasn't overly excited about it.

'That sweep did a lot more for me than my own record," he said. "It was just sheer joy to see it."

The Americans' only other medal came as a poor second some 10 yards back of the East German women's world record 4:07.95 in the 400-meter medley relay. Shirley Babashoff, Fountain Valley, Calif., swimming the freestyle leg, won a duel with Canada's Anne Jardin, to give the United States the silver.

"It was our first," said East Germany's Kornelia Ender, one of the products of a concentrated government athletic training effort. She left unsaid the obvious fact that it won't be their last. The East German women hold world records in 12 of the 13 Olympic swimming events.

The American basketball team, which lost its only Olympic game in the controversial finals at Munich in 1972, started the road back with a convincing. 106-86 victory over Italy, a team that beat Olympic defending Russia in the

"I'm sure Russia has to be awed with what they say today," said center Mike Kupchak of North Carolina, who tossed in 19 points. Adrian Dantley of Notre Dame scored 20 and Scott May of Indiana 16 as the Americans ran up a lead that reached 30 points at one time.

"I was surprised with the ease with which we won," said Coach Dean Smith.

The Russians were undismayed, however, and rolled over Mexico 120-77.

The International Olympic Committee was meeting Monday and the possibility of sanc tions against the teams that withdrew was a likely topic for conversation.

The Russians picked up their two golds in flyweight weightlifting and the 100 kilometer team road race, winning the cycling event in 2:08.53. Poland and Denmark followed.

Alexander Voronin, a Siberian factory worker, tied his own world record with a combined lift of 242.5 kilos (533.5 pounds) for the gold in flyweight weightlifting. Gyorgy Koszegi of Hungary was second and Mohammad Nassiri of Iran third.

An East German student, Uwe Potteck, won the free pistol gold medal with 573 points from a possible 600. Harald Volmar, also of East Germany, was second with 566 and Ragmar Vollmar of Sweden third with Among Monday's gold medal events were four in swimming, the women's 100-meter freestyle and 200-meter butterfly, men's 100-meter backstroke and 200meter freestyle, small bore rifle and another weightlifting final.

Chinese Get Big Welcome

TAIPEI (AP) - A 58-member Nationalist Chinese Olympic team returned to Taipei from Los Angeles amid a heroes welcome Monday, after it refused to yield on the name issue and pulled out of the Montreal Olympics.

About 2,000 people, including sports officials, civic leaders, military and social representatives and students lined up at the Taipei Military Airport to greet the team.

Gessel Marinus van president of the American Chamber of Commerce in Taipei, also led a group of American well-wishers to extend their support and sympathy to the Nationalist squad.

Banners carried at the airport read: "Canadian government's dishonor of its commitment pollutes the history of the Olympics," "We justly uphold the principles," and "To maintain sportsmanship, we refuse to compete under conditions.' Some of the team's officials and athletes could hardly conceal their inner emotion. Hsu Tung-chin, a swimmer, even wept and became speechless. I deeply regret being unable

I personally reckon the Canadian government's decision was not right. Nobody can tell you to change your own name. The whole affair was under the Maoists' pressure.

Thomas Hsueh, captain of the nationalist yatching team and a Chinese American, commenting on Canadian Prime Minister Pierre Trudeau's intervention, said: "I think it goes down into history that Canada is the first nation to outdo Hitler who tried but failed to intervene in the Olympics before. They should be proud of themselves.

Grab Wins In Twin 200 Races At MIS

By MICHAEL GRACZYK Associated Press Writer

CAMBRIDGE JUNCTION, Mich. (AP) - Fuel was the crucial factor Sunday as Gordon Johncock outlasted his rivals to take the 200-mile Indy-Car half of the U.S. Auto Club's Twin 200 races at Michigan International Speedway.

But in the stock car half of the twin bill, brute power and survival of the fittest allowed A.J. Foyt of Houston to take the checkered flag.

After days of careful tinkering with special tires, delicate superchargers and suspensions, empty fuel tanks spelled doom for Foyt and Al Unser, both of whom ran out of gas while leading the championship car

Even Johncock, who collected $17,550 for the victory, gambled late in the contest that his fuel would hold out. His pit crew wanted him to come in for fuel when the yellow light came out with seven laps left. Car owner Pat Patrick shouted over the radio to stay on the track.

Ichneock decided to remain at the front of the pack. "When they told me to come in. I'm glad I didn't" he said. "I didn't know how much fuel we had

Chief mechanic George Bignotti said two gallons remained when Johncock pulled into victory circle.

"The last pit stop we weren't able to get all the fuel in," Bignotti said. "We were worried." While Johncock's crew was worried, Foyt and Unser were trying to decide where their mathematics went wrong. Foyt's crew decided to pass a pit stop during an early yellow.

"We figured it was better to stay out and take our chances rather than to go to the back of the pack as we would have had to if we had stopped," said car owner Jim Gilmore of Kalamazoo.

Their chances for victory soured when Foyt ran out of gas on lap 32.

"I just guess we didn't get the mileage we figured," Foyt said. He was two laps down before rejoining the chase. By then, and Johncock were swapping the lead. But Unser's fuel-starved Cosworth sputtered on the 74th lap, leaving just Rutherford and Johncock on the same lap.

While Johncock nursed his fuel, Rutherford ran out of laps. Foyt wound up third with Johnny Parsons fourth and Roger McCluskey fifth.

Johncock's 165.033 miles per hour was a record for the 200mile MIS feature. McCluskey held the old mark of 161.146, set Meanwhile, Foyt survived the wild stock car half of the program, straying away from Butch Hartman of South Zanesville, Ohio, and Terry Ryan of Davenport, Iowa.

The race was stopped for one hour and 10 minutes on lap 76 to repair a guardrail in turn two after Ferrel Harris of Pikeville, Ky., tangled with Bob Whitlow, a former Detroit Lions football player from Pontiac, Mich. Whitlow's Dodge went completey through the steel barrier and tumbled down the outside track embankment. Both drivers were hospitalized. Whitlow sustained a fractured kneecap while Harris was released after treatment of a wrenched neck.

Foyt, who averaged 121.08 miles per hour for the 200 miles, banked $6,990 with the victory.

And while he clearly had the fastest car on the track, Foyt finished with just seven of the eight cylinders running on his Chevrolet.

"Something happened to it at the end," Foyt said. "I told my crew 'I don't think she's going to make it. Ain't this a hell of a But neither Hartman, who was leaking oil, nor Ryan, who couldn't see because of Hartman's flying oil, could overtake the Texan. Jack Bowsher finished fourth, with Sal Tovella "We might have won today if we had done this or that under the red flag," said Ryan, who saw his lead evaporate after Foyt made chassis adjustments during the race stoppage. "But there's always a lot of 'ifs' in this world. You can't win on an

DeVries Track Standout

Wins Four Events In Olympian Games

came up with four firsts in track and field to highlight a busy Saturday in the finals competition of the Berrien County Olympian Games.

DeVries captured firsts in the 220 and 440-yard dashes and the 880 run and tied for first in the high jump. She competed in the 16-18 age division.

There were a total of six triple winners in swimming and two triple winners in track and field Saturday

Danelle Clymer, Jeff Altergott, Nancy Chinery, June Russell, Scott Tyler and John Worthington were the triple swim champions in the competition at the St. Joseph high school pool. Cindy Culver and Ruth DeVries of St. Joseph Diane Lloyd were the only competitors to land three first places in the track and field competition at the St. Joseph high school field.

> Clymer, swimming in the girls age eight and under division, won the 25 freestyle, 25 backstroke and 25 butterfly. Altergott took the 25 freestyle, 25 backstroke and 25 breaststroke in the eight and under boys class. Chinery, competing in girls 9-10, took the 50 freestyle, 50 butterfly and 100 individual medley. Russell won the 50 freestyle, 50 backstroke and 50 butterfly in 11-12 girls Scott Tyler, in 11-12 boys, captured the 50 freestyle, 50 backstroke and 200 IM. Worthington placed first in the 200 freestyle, 100 backstroke and 100 butterfly in the 15-18 boys.

Culver, competing in 14-15 girls track class, took the 220 and 440 dashes and the long jump while Lloyd won the 16-18 100 and long jump and tied for the high jump.

Double swim winners for the girls were Gayle Waldenmaier. Chris Tyler, Diana Grandy, Kenna Finch, Kevin Brown, Audrey Flood, Stephen Johnson, Tim Bambrick, Blair Bowser, Williams and Mike

Single winners were David Worthington, Carrie Saratore, Butzbaugh, Keith Strand, David Bischoff, Julie Renterghem, Amy Porritt and Lisa Nelson.

There were a total of 12 double winners in the track and field competition. Girls taking two victories were Kim Edwards. 12-13 mile and long jump; Candy Pratt, 9-11 880 and mile; Michelle Wallace, 12-13 220 and 440; and Nancy Palazzolo, 9-11 220 and 440.

Boys taking double honors were Malcomb Hayes, 9-11 880 and mile; Brad Krugler, 14-15 mile and two-mile; Phillip Walker, 12-13 long jump and 220; Leonard Fowler, 16-18 long jump and triple jump; Mike Strejc 12-13 high jump and triple jump; John Sykora, 16-18 shot put and discus; Andrew Hurst, 14-15 100 and long jump; and Ty Douglas, 9-11 440 and long jump.

Single first-place winners for the girls were Kerrin Kasischke, Brigit Erickson, Melody Middleton, Donna Wofford, Kim Pratt, Sheila Varga, Sue Varga, Amelca Ramirez, Cindy Culver, Jackie Brown, Kim Foster, Heidi Lovgren and Tina Atcher.

Single winners for the boys were George Neidlinger, Randy Harper, Joe Palazzolo, Douglas Hayes, Mike Mead, John Dine, Guy Young, Tom Farmer, Kerry Myers, Sammy Williams, Tony Mudd, Jack Dadan, Clancy Rose, Ron Field, Mike Steele, Verne Hatton, Maurice Burton, Henry Thomas, Wayne Pollard, R. Null, Tony Nelson, Herbert McCoy, Jeff Fetters and Jim Curry.

The top three finishers in each event in each class will be eligible to compete in the CanAmer Games against the Canadians, which will be held here Aug. 6-8.

A practice session for all members of the CanAmer track and field team will be held Tuesday and Wednesday at Lakeshore high school starting at 10 a.m. Track participants who finished fourth and fifth are also encouraged to come as relay teams will be formed for the CanAmer Games.

Tryouts for the CanAmer soccer teams were also held Saturday at the Kickers' Field at Erwin Frank, soccer chairman, has announced the selection of players for the CanAmer team with all having two years experience with the Olympian and CanAmer Games.

They are, in the bantam age group (16-18), Mark Lehmann. Edwin Stubelt, Frank Bock, Ron Piontek and John Scott. In the Pee Wee group (13-15), Bruno Lehmann, Jeff Zych, Steve Hardwidge and Rick Ahrens. Included in the osquitoes (10-12) are Mark Waldmann Robert Doering. Bernd Luius, David Zehn and Frank Buchhorn.

Other players will be selected later to round out the three soccer teams.

When the U.S. wins in the Olympic Games, you can win at McDonald's.

So, maybe you're not in the running for this year's gold medal. That doesn't mean you can't win McDonald's Olympic Medals Game.

From now thru the 1976 Summer Olympics, August 1, you can get an Olympic Medals Game rub and win card everytime you come to a participating McDonald's.*

circle on the card is the name and final date of an Olympic event. If the U.S. wins a gold medal in that event, you win a Quarter Pounder with Cheese. If the U.S. wins a silver medal, you win a Regular order of Fries. And if the U.S. wins a bronze medal, you win a Regular soft drink.

If the U.S. wins more than one medal in the event, you win more than one prize.

All you have to do is come in any time before August 31, 1976, and show us your winning game card to collect your prize. No purchase necessary.

Carty Slugging Lifts Cleveland

Yogi Berra must have been right when he once wondered how a guy could hil and think at the same time. Rico Carty, you see, does both .. but not at the same time.

Four or five times a game, Carty wields his big but as Cleveland's designated hitter, with an occasional turn at first base. But most of the time when the Indians are in the field he's only a spectator.

You have too much time to think on the bench," Carty said Sunday after leading the Indians to a 6-1 triumph over the Minnesota Twins with a pair of two-run homers and a single. "On. I know the designated bitter rule has probably kept me in the game, but I don't like it." Carty's slugging display powered the Indians past Balplace in the American League East ... but 11½ games behind the New York Yankees, who lost to Texas 3-2 in 12 innings as the Rangers snapped a 10-game Elsewhere, the Kansas City

Royals dumped the Boston Red Sox 6-3, the Oakland A's battered the Detroit Tigers 10-1, the

LPGA Win To Rankin

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) - Judy Rankin says reaching the $200,000 plateau in single-season money winnings is "possible, but not probable," and she could be on her way to that mark.

She boosted her season's earnings to $110,614 with her victory Sunday in the $70,000 Ladies Professional Golf Association Columbus Classic, and the season is barely half over.

"It would take an awful lot to do it (reach $200,000)," the 31-year-old Midland, Tex., resident said after adding a 67 to rounds of 68 and 70 for an 11-under-par 205 on the 6,200-yard Riviera Country Club course. She finished five strokes ahead of Patty Bradley and Hollis

Stacy. JoAnne Carner, who succumbed to the heat on the 14th fairway during Sunday's final round, finished fourth at 211, while Amy Alcott, last year's rookie of the year on the tour, and Donna Caponi Young finished in a tie for fifth at 212.

Miss Bradley and Miss Stacy each picked up $6,250 for the second-place tie, with Mrs. Carner, who finished play despite needing oxygen and salt during the round, followed up her U.S. Women's Open victory with a check for $4,150.

Canadian Tourney Gaining In Stature

WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) — What makes a golf tournament a "major" event? Generally, it's outstanding courses, great players or a long and storied tradition — sometimes all threc.

And by those standards the And by those standards, the Canadian Open appears to be gaining fast on the stature of the Masters, the U.S. Open, the British Open and the PGA

When the Canadian Open gets under way at Windsor's Essex Golf and Country Club on Thursday, defending champion Tom Weiskopf will lead a widely known field into battle for a title that has been growing more and more important. Chasing Weiskopf will be the likes of Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Ben Crenshaw, Lee Trevino, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Ray Floyd, Jerry Pate and Hubie Green.

That gives, the Canadian
Open a field of fine players one of the three general qualities for a great tournament.

The Canadian Open always the touring pros, but it's star really began to rise in 1969 when bad-tempered Tommy Aaron shed his bridesmaid's role and won at Quebec's Kanawaki.

Two years later, Lee Trevino - at the peak of his game won at Richelieu Valley, also near Montreal, and all the golf world began to whisper good words about the Canadian

As far as tradition goes, past Canadian Open champions who are entered this week include Palmer (1955), Gay Brewer (1972), Kermit Zarley (1970), Doug Ford (1963, 1959) and Jim Ferrier (1950, 1951).

A long-time favorite with golfers in adjacent Michigan, 77-year-old Al Watrous, profes-sional emeritus from Oakland Hills, won the Canadian Open in 1922 and was slated to play this year until illness forced him to withdraw.

Only the golf courses have remained suspect, although two out of three isn't had.

In a land where the hockey a pitching wedge - and where long winters make lush golf layouts an expensive venture the lack of an outstanding layouts is understandable

The tight 6,696-yard Essex course, which will play to a par of 70 for the pros, will yield plenty of birdies if balls fly straight.

But let one stray and they'll find trouble in Essex's tall, thick rough, in its ponds or among the hundreds of trees that line every fairway. And, groundskeepers have tried hard to make it more

Former outfielder Ted Ehlaender is the principal owner of the Rio Grande Valley, Texas, team in the Gulf States League

It turned out to be a highly smacked two hits. Ott drove in hurler three runs with a single and a bases loaded walk.

> North Lincoln scored all its runs in the first three innings against Coloma. Winning hurler Smith, Toney and Buller all had two hits for the winners, now 8-5 in the West division.

Sandy Spears keyed a six-run sixth inning for Benton Heights with a two run homer against Hagar, Rick Haney and three singles and scored three runs while Craig Crosley smacked a single and double and scored a run. Randy Powell got the win. Jeff Bruff had a pair of hits for Hagar and Chris Harper took the loss.

Fairplain scored a pair of runs in the first, third, fourth and sixth innings to beat Benton Heights. Gary Bartalone and Tom Driscoll each had three hits for the winners and Bob Mattner was the victor. Fairplain leads the West with a 10-1 record.

Smola, Bob Moore and Steve Groendyk each had two hits for Decatur as it put the first game away with a four-run third inning. Smola was the winning homer for Bangor and Carl Smith hit a solo homer in the third inning as John Dentzman took the loss.

that drove in one tally and Wiese had a triple and two singles. Decatur leads the East with a 9-0 record.

Winning pitcher Karl Kroshinski helped his own cause in the second game by walking six times. Ron Rushing and Jim Babin each had three hits for Paw Paw while losing hurler Dave Whittaker had three hits and Rick Sabadin smacked two hits for Wa-

Carty Slugging Lifts Cleveland

From ASSOCIATED PRESS Yogi Berra must have been right when he once wondered how a guy could hit and think at the same time. Rico Carty, you see, does both .. but not at the same time.

Four or five times a game, Carty wields his big bat as Cleveland's designated hitter, with an occasional turn at first base. But most of the time when the Indians are in the field he's only a spectator

'You have too much time to think on the bench," Carty said Sunday after leading the Indians to a 6-1 triumph over the Minnesota Twins with a pair of two-run homers and a single. "Oh, I know the designated hitter rule has probably kept me in the game, but I don't like it."

Carty's slugging display powered the Indians past Baltimore and Detroit into second place in the American League East ... but 111/2 games behind the New York Yankees, who lost to Texas 3-2 in 12 innings as the Rangers snapped a 10-game losing streak.

Elsewhere, the Kansas City Royals dumped the Boston Red Sox 6-3, the Oakland A's battered the Detroit Tigers 10-1, the

the Milwaukee Brewers 13-3. The 35-year-old Carty blasted his first homer in the third inning off Jim Hughes and belted his second in the fifth off Tom Burgmeier. The Twins didn't get him out until Burgmeier fanned him in the seventh.

While Carty supplied the power with his ninth and 10th homers and boosted his average to .301, reliever Stan Thomas

Thomas, who has been used almost exclusively as a reliever since coming to the majors during the 1974 season, allowed

Juan Beniquez' bloop single with two out in the 12th inning following an intentional walk to Mike Hargrove enabled Texas to snap its 10-game skid behind Hargan's brilliant pitching. The Rangers tied the score on Lenny Randle's runscoring single off New York relief ace Sparky Lyle with two out in the ninth and then beat him three innings later.

George Brett slammed a tworun homer and Marty Pattin, making his second start of the season, pitched seven strong innings to lead the Royals past the fading Red Sox. The defeat, Boston's fourth in a row and fifth in the six-game Kansas City series, left the defending AL champions floundering in fifth place in the AL East, 13 games from the top.

Dave Collins singled home the tie-breaking run in a sixth-inning rally and Tony Solaita drove in three runs with a homer and single as California overcame four RBI by Baltimore's Reggie Jackson, including his 11th homer, a three-run blast that gave the Orioles a 5-4 lead in the fifth in-

Lamar Johnson walloped a pair of upper deck home runs and Kevin Bell and Bill Stein each added three-run homers to power the Chicago White Sox to Johnson's first home run of the season came in the opening inning with two men aboard and, after Bell hit his fifth homer in the second inning, Johnson blasted another off loser Bill Travers, 10-7.

Stein, who had four hits, drilled his first home run of the season in the eighth inning after Wayne Nordhagen singled and Bucky Dent walked. Dent also contributed a two-run single in the fourth inning.

Francisco Barrios, 2-3, retired the first 10 batters he faced before giving up a walk to Don Money and a single to George Scott in the fourth. Barrios had a two-hit shutout until the seventh when the Brewers scored three times on five singles. He allowed nine hits and fanned eight.

Bears Release Five Players

CHICAGO (AP) - Five players, including three linebackers, have been cut after tryouts with the Chicago Bears of the National Football League team.

Linebackers Jack LeVeck, Andre Jackson and Wayne Womack, place-kicker Tom Klaban and running back Jim Pooler were released Thursday, a spokesman said.

The spokesman also reported that fullback Champ Henson and wide receiver Ron Shanklin missed the Bears' Thursday afternoon practice because of minor injuries. Henson has a leg bruise and Shanklin has a sore knee, the spokesman said.

Students did this job as public service, but they along with some 70 others at Gateway center for mentallyphysically handicapped are working on subcontract jobs for about 30 industries in Berrien, Cass and Van Buren counties. The center's principal goal is to place people in competitive employment to increase their self-sufficiency. Chore at Crystal Springs was under supervision of Bill Hahn of cemetery staff. (Staff

ROUGH FISH RECIPES

Meals Boring? Try Dollarville Steak

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP) Many of Michigan's fish have a bad name because of their uppleasant flavor, but even carp and sucker can be turned into a lip-smacking meal, say experts at Michigan State University.

The experts are publishing a booklet which tells consumers how to prepare fish - like carp, sticker, alewife and burbot — to get rid of muddy flavors that have given them a bad name and turn them into ingredients of tasty, nutritious recipes.

entitled booklet. "Recipes for Underutilized will soon be available at all agriculture extension offices

"Rough fish, long disdained by fishermen, merely suffer from an image problem," said Dr. Niles Kevern, MSU fisheries and wildlife department chair-

They can be made very tasty, are good nutritionally, and are abundant, he added.

The department is looking at these species as part of lowcost, low-fat, high-protein dishes. Besides telling people how to improve the flavor, Kevern said people can learn how to smoke and can fish and the booklet provides "a variety of recipies for stuffing and sauces."

The recipes were originally developed by MSU specialists during World War II when there was a need for protein from sources other than meat Kevern said the recipes were modernized and reprinted with financial help from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commis and the Michigan Sea

"With our interest in keeping saturated fats at low levels in our diets, and food costs down without sacrificing good pro-tein, these recipes should be very popular with today's very popular v cooks." he added.

Grant Program.

The sucker recipes include West Branch Mustard Wonder. AuSable Broil, Tasty Frontier Fritters. Burbot dishes include Charlevoix Stew, Tangy Creole Merritt, Harbur Beach Hash, and Jiffy Jasper Jamboree. Carp meals include Petoskey Paprika Bake, Presque Isle Fish Fry and Kalkaska Creole, although the lowly alewife ap parently can only be canned

One of the recipes, for Dollarville Steak No. 1, requires two pounds of skinned sucker fillets, half a teaspoon of dry mustard, salt and pepper, two tablespoons of chili sauce, onequarter teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and one teaspoon Jenson juice.

Place the fillets on a preheated, greased brotler rack. Mix the ingredients and spread them over the fish. Broil until

SRO Crowds In Jail

DETROIT (AP) - In one suburban Detroit community, a prisoner was shackled to an office chair all weekend while police fed him hamburgers from a fast-food restaurant. Another suburban Detroit police officer spent two days handcuffed to his prisoner and finally brought the man into his own home. The reason: No room at the Wayne County Jail. Those are some of the results of a court order issued by Wayne County Circuit Court Chief James Canham requiring some Wayne County prisoners to be held in local lockups to ease overcrowding of the county jail. But the local lockups are overcrowded too, several local police

Economy 'Not A Factor'

SAULT STE, MARIE, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan congressman said he has been told the impact on the Upper Peninsula's economy won't be a major factor in deciding Kincheloe Air Force Base. Rep. Phillip Ruppe, a Republican from Houghton who represents the entire Upper Peninsula, said his information came from investigators for the U.S. General Account ing Office. The Congressman told reporters at a news conference he has written President Ford asking him to repeat his twomonth-old assurance the secretary of defense will consider economic impact before deciding the fate of the base, near Sault

Milliken Names Three

LANSING, Mich. (AP) -- Gov. William Milliken has made three appointments to a commission which sets salaries for state of-ficers, clearing the way for the panel's consideration of pay freers, clearing the way for the panel's consideration of pincreases. A spokesman for the state Officers Compensation Commission said terms of two members had expired, resulting in the cancellation of the commission's first meeting of the year. Milliken named to four-year terms Dolores Kinzel of East Lansing, a housewife and vicechairman of the Ingham County Republican Committee; John Clark, a Petoskey attorney and past president of the State Bar of Michigan; and Robert Rengo of Kaleva, president of a wholesale petroleum company.

Canadian Tourney Gaining In Stature WINDSOR, Ont. (AP) -What makes a golf tournament a "major" event?

Generally, it's outstanding courses great players or a long and storied tradition -- sometimes all three.

And by those standards, the Canadian Open appears to be gaining fast on the stature of the Masters, the U.S. Open, the British Open and the PGA Championship.

Gain Split

NILES - Benton Harbor's Babe Ruth All Stars split two games here Saturday at the Niles Babe Ruth Tournament. Benton Harbor beat Buchanan 7-5 and lost to St. Joe 9-8.

Jerry Pryor was the big hitting standout for Benton Harbor, slugging a double and a single in both games. Ronnie Jones collected a triple in the Buchanan game and three hits in the St. Joseph contest.

When the Canadian Open world began to whisper good gets under way at Windsor's Essex Golf and Country Club on Thursday, defending cham: pion Tem Weiskopf will lead a widely known field into battle for a title that has been growing more and more important. Chasing Weiskopf will be the likes of Jack Nicklaus, Johnny Miller, Ben Crenshaw, Lee Trevino, Gary Player, Arnold Palmer, Ray Floyd, Jerry Pate and Hubie Green.

That gives the Canadian Open a field of fine players one of the three general qualities for a great tournament.

The Canadian Open always has been a popular event with the touring pros, but it's star really began to rise in 1969 when bad-tempered Tommy Aaron shed his bridesmaid's role and won at Quebec's Kanawaki.

Two years later, Lee Trevino - at the peak of his game won at Richelieu Valley, also near Montreal, and all the golf

words about the Canadian

As far as tradition goes, past Canadian Open champions who are entered this week include Palmer (1955), Gay Brewer (1972), Kermit Zarley (1970), Doug Ford (1963, 1959) and Jim Ferrier (1950, 1951).

A long-time favorite with golfers in adjacent Michigan, 77-year-old Al Watrous, professional emeritus from Oakland Hills, won the Canadian Open in 1922 and was slated to play this year until illness forced him to withdraw.

Only the golf courses have remained suspect, although two out of three isn't bad.

In a land where the hockey stick is far more familiar than a pitching wedge - and where long winters make lush golf layouts an expensive venture the lack of an outstanding layouts is understandable.

The tight 6,696-yard Essex course, which will play to a par plenty of birdies if balls fly straight.

But let one stray and they'll find trouble in Essex's tall, thick rough, in its ponds or among the hundreds of trees groundskeepers have tried hard to make it more challenging. "We think this Canadian Open will be a first-rate championship event," said

Howard Wellington, presiden of Essex.

Tourney spokesmen say fans should park at Windsor Raceway and take shuttle buses to the course, since facilities there are limited.

The extent to which television has made old-fashioned news coverage of nominating conventions a sheer waste of time is not generally appreciated. In this convention, I vividly recall an incident at the 1984 Atlantic City Democratic Convention Lymbon Johnson, like Jimmy Carter, played a big game with the vice presidency; the late Senator Tom Dedd and Hubert Humphrey had been summoned to Washington and were return-ing in Air Force 1, and in the convention site news room 50 or more of the nation's top political journalists were watching TV to discover L.B.J.'s choice!

ROUGH FISH RECIPES Meals Boring? Try Dollarville Steak

EAST LANSING, Mich. (AP)

— Many of Michigan's fish have a bad name because of their unpleasant flavor, but even carp and sucker can be turned into a lip-smacking meal, say experts at Michigan State University.

The experts are publishing a booklet which tells consumers how to prepare fish — like carp, sucker, alewife and burbot — to get rid of muddy flavors that have given them a bad name and turn them into ingredients of tasty, nutritious recipes.

The booklet, entitled "Recipes for Underutilized Fish," will soon be available at all agriculture extension offices. "Rough fish, long disdained by fishermen, merely suffer by fishermen, merely suffer from an image problem," said Dr. Niles Kevern, MSU fisheries and wildlife department chairman.

"They can be made very tasty, are good nutritionally, and are abundant," he added. The department is looking at these species as part of lowcost, low-fat, high-protein dishes. Besides telling people how to improve the flavor, Kevern said people can learn how to smoke and can fish and the booklet provides "a variety of recipies for stuffing and sauces."

The recipes were originally developed by MSU specialists during World War II when there was a need for protein from sources other than meat.

Kevern said the recipes were modernized and reprinted with financial help from the Upper Great Lakes Regional Commission and the Michigan Sea Grant Program.

"With our interest in keeping saturated fats at low levels in our diets, and food costs down without sacrificing good protein, these recipes should be very popular with today's cooks," he added.

The sucker recipes include West Branch Mustard Wonder, AuSable Broil, Tasty Frontier Fritters. Burbot dishes include Charlevoix Stew, Tangy Creole Merritt, Harbor Beach Hash, and Jiffy Jasper Jamboree. Carp meals include Petoskey Paprika Bake, Presque Isle Fish Fry and Kalkaska Creole, although the lowly alewife apparently can only be canned.

One of the recipes, for Dollarville Steak No. 1, requires two pounds of skinned sucker fillets, half a teaspoon of dry mustard, salt and pepper, two tablespoons of chili sauce, onequarter teaspoon Worcestershire sauce, and one teaspoon lemon juice.

Place the fillets on a preheated, greased broiler rack. Mix the ingredients and spread them over the fish. Broil until tender.

SRO Crowds In Jail

DETROIT (AP) — In one suburban Detroit community, a prisoner was shackled to an office chair all weekend while police fed him hamburgers from a fast-food restaurant. Another suburban Detroit police officer spent two days handcuffed to his prisoner and finally brought the man into his own home. The reason: No room at the Wayne County Jail. Those are some of the results of a court order issued by Wayne County Circuit Court Chief James Canham requiring some Wayne County prisoners to be held in local lockups to ease overcrowding of the county jail. But the local lockups are overcrowded too, several local police agencies say.

Economy 'Not A Factor'

SAULT STE. MARIE, Mich. (AP) — A Michigan congressman said he has been told the impact on the Upper Peninsula's economy won't be a major factor in deciding whether to close Kincheloe Air Force Base. Rep. Philip Ruppe, a Republican from Houghton who represents the entire Upper Peninsula, said his information came from investigators for the U.S. General Accounting Office. The Congressman told reporters at a news conference he has written President Ford asking him to repeat his twomonth-old assurance the secretary of defense will consider economic impact before deciding the fate of the base, near Sault Ste. Marie.

Milliken Names Three

LANSING, Mich. (AP) — Gov. William Milliken has made three appointments to a commission which sets salaries for state officers, clearing the way for the panel's consideration of pay increases. A spokesman for the state Officers Compensation Commission said terms of two members had expired, resulting in the cancellation of the commission's first meeting of the year. Milliken named to four-year terms Dolores Kinzel of East Lansing, a housewife and vicechairman of the Ingham County Republican Committee; John Clark, a Petoskey attorney and past president of the State Bar of Michigan; and Robert Rengo of Kaleva, president of a wholesale petroleum company.

DETROIT (AP) - Police say a neighborhood feud may have triggered a firebombing that left six persons dead and eight others injured at a southwest Detroit home Sunday.

The blaze gutted the Broome house and damaged a home next Police today said most of those being held for questioning were residents of the area near the Broome home. No warrants had been issued.

Neighbors and police said children or grandchildren of several families had moved out of the neighborhood partly because of trouble involving the Broome family.

Police Sgt. Donald Nash said one of the survivors told police he heard glass breaking "as if something had been thrown through a window" just before flames engulfed the house.

A nextdoor neighbor said he heard two explosions just before the fire, then heard "screaming and hollering." One of the women in the house screamed to him to call the fire department, he said.

While police said they have no formal motive in the fire, the family "had been having problems with neighbors," and 'had received some threatening calls," Nash said. The nature of those threats was not disclosed.

With substantially increasing demand, steelmakers feel they can recover part of the difference, the managementoriented magazine says. It also notes demand remains weak for stainless bar, wire and some other specialty steel products.

The magazine says the situation is similar in carbon steel flat-rolled products: prices were raised about six per cent late in 1975 but steelmakers said they dropped extra charges in a depressed market, so cold-rolled sheet returned lower prices that year than in 1974.

With a rising market, another six per cent boost was posted in June and, again, the increase covered only half of the rise in costs since the October 1975

boost, the producers said.

Anticipating continued high demand for flat-rolled proudcts and an upsurge for heavier steel, poducers raised prices an average of 7 per cent this month 1975.

DETROIT (AP) - Not even policemen are safe in Detroit, if Sgt. Harold McRae's experience is any indication. McRae said he took a break from work to cash a check and pay some bills but was approached by four youths who grabbed an envelope containing $156, kicked him in the groin and fled. McRae, who works undercover, was dressed in civilian clothes but armed with a service revolver. The policeman said he drew his gun and tried to give chase the youths but the youths disappeared into a crowd celebrating an ethnic festival in a downtown.lot.

New Mazda Warranty A Record

DETROIT (AP) — The maker of Mazda cars has announced an unprecedented five-vear. 75,000-mile warranty on its ro-tary engines in an effort to revitalize sales of the Japanese import, once the Cinderella of Toyo Kogyo Co. said that beginning with engines sold Thursday, the warranty would cover the engine block and internal parts for either five years or 75,000 miles, whichever comes first.

In another unprecedented move, Mazda said the warranty - which covers labor as well as parts - would be transferable from owner to owner.

The engine warranty is the longest in the industry, topping a five-year, 60,000-mile plan of fered since last year by General Motors on the four-cylinder engine used in the Chevrolet Vega and several other GM subcom-

A: Most stars are aware of the many down and outers in Hollywood who threw away their fortunes and are working as cashiers or apartment managers. As a result the smart ones are always looking for good investments of any kind. boulevard. Q: I always liked actor Cliff Robertson but he seems to be appearing in fewer and fewer films and TV shows. Why isn't he pushing his career like the rest of the big names? - S.E., Tucson, Ariz.

A: Robertson has always been a strong individualist who hates to go with the herd. Though California born and bred, Cliff has apparently worked out his own unique lifestyle away from the Hollywood scene, leading the social life with wife Dina Merrill in New York, Southampton and Palm Beach; doing only the films and TV specials that interest him; giving time to worthy causes; and keeping up his hobbies of flying and sailing.

Q: How come the King of Sweden just married a commoner, Silvia Sommerlath? I thought that was against Swedish law. - H.R., Decatur, Q: Why does Elliott Gould keep playing those screwball roles in films? Doesn't he know the nutty '60s are out of style? -K.S., Wilkes-Barre, Pa.

A: Maybe because Gould is a bit nutty himself and hopes his type of comedy will return to fashion. You've heard, of course, about the time he showed up at a Warner Brothers meeting clad only in a bath towel. Well, we understand that recently he strode through Beverly Hills on the way to his lawyer's office wearing just a red bathrobe. He seems determined to bring back the crazy '60s even if the critics kill off his movies in the process.

Q: Is it true that Steve McQueen left wife Ali MacGraw in their Malibu house and moved into a hotel suite in Beverly Hills? — G.Y., Dallas,

A: It appears to be just what he did, but his explanations make awfully good sense. It seems that Steve had to concentrate on the script of his new film, "Enemy of the People," wanted to lose weight, and carpenters were busy fixing up the house. We think McQueen is telling it straight and the marriage is as sound as ever.

More Steel Price Hikes Due

CLEVELAND (AP) -Further price increases are almost sure to follow in the steel industry because those posted recently still don't equal cost rises and pricing cuts of the past, a trade magazine says.

With substantially increasing demand, steelmakers feel they can recover part of the difference, the managmentoriented magazine says. It also notes demand remains weak for stainless bar, wire and some other specialty steel products.

The magazine says the situation is similar in carbon steel flat-rolled products: prices were raised about six per cent late in 1975 but steelmakers said they dropped extra charges in a depressed market, so coldrolled sheet returned lower prices that year than in 1974.

With a rising market, another six per cent boost was posted in June and, again, the increase covered only half of the rise in costs since the October 1975

Van Buren Republican Barbecue Attracts 800

Paw Paw Bureau BANGOR — If for some reason Van Buren Republicans relinguish their traditional control of county politics in this fall's general election, it won't be because of a lack of enthusiasm.

Almost 800 of the party faith-tul jammed the Triple-S

Produce company near here Lackey of Paw Paw Saturday night for the 5th an-nual county GOP barbecue. With the Aug. 3 primary only two weeks away, discussions invariably-turned to politics.

"This year there's been an increased interest in the Republican party from top to bottom," said county GOP Chairman Mrs. William (Bee)

Among those actively cam-paigning at the barbecue were Fourth Congressional district candidates Lee Boothby, David Frazer, David Stockman, and Helen Take; U.S. Senate hopefuls Marvin Esch and Dean Baker; 18 of the 19 Republican candidates for county offices, and a good smattering of drew an enthusiastic response from the large crowd when he said, "It's about time we put an end to high tax, low service government." The Ann Arbor Conversarium also suggested that two ways to cut down on the expansion of big government would be to put a ing of federal civil service

Baker, a University of Michigan regent, called Jimmy Carter's selection of Sen. Watter Mondale of Minnesota as his presidential running mate, the best thing that could happen to the Republican party. Mon-dale's strong support of labor will hurt the Democratic ticket among many voters, Baker

Of the four GOP Congressional candidates speaking, Stockman received the most support from the large crowd. The St. Joseph native called for a resurgence of the party to do away with what he described as the evils of big government, inflation, and a welfare system which is negating the traditional ethics of work.

Frazer, of Benton township, noted that in the last Congressional primary only one of eight voters bothered to turn out.

"I challenge you with the res-ponsibility of gathering up your seven friends who didn't vote and getting them to the polls," he told the crowd.

Boothby, a Berrien Springs attorney, called for a return of common sense to government. He said only the Republican party can solve the nation's

Miss Take, of St. Joseph, said that if elected she felt she would make an excellent representative and would be able to draw people into the party. She said the federal government was also guilty of "overregulation and overtaxation."

Master of ceremonies for the barbecue was Atty. Harold Schuitmaker of Lawton. Introducine candidates were Mrs Lackey, Sandra Valentine, Ban-gor; county Commissioner Shirley Jackson, Paw Paw; and county Clerk Charles E. Mac-

ALLEGAN — Arthur L. Cheek Jr., four-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur L. Cheek Sr., route 1, box 310, Covert, drowned last night in Lake Allegan, three miles northwest of here.

Allegan county sheriff's deputies said the child was playing with his 11-year-old cousin when he waded into the water to get a floating bottle and fell off the take's drop-off. He was found about an hour later, around 9:15 p.m. in about eight feet of water. His death has been ruled an accidental drowning by Dr. James Wheat of Allegan, deputy Allegan county medica

The boy's father said his son was on a camping trip with his uncle, Junior Cheek when the rowning occurred.

It was the second drowning in Allegan county this year. The first occurred July 10 at Dumont lake about four miles north of Allegan. Arthur was born July 14, 1972, in Berrien Springs, the son of Arthur Lee and Diana (Hoffenkamp) Cheek, Surviving besides the parents

Even Officer Is Mugged

DETROIT (AP) - Not even policemen are safe in Detroit, if Sgt. Harold McRae's experience is any indication. McRae said he took a break from work to cash a check and pay some bills but. was approached by four youths who grabbed an envelope containing $156, kicked him in the groin and fled. McRae, who works undercover, was dressed in civilian clothes but armed with a service revolver. The policeman said he drew his gun and tried to give chase the youths but the youths disappeared into a crowd celebrating an ethnic festival in a downtown lot.

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Gain Slightly

stock market posted a slight gain in active trading today, trying to overcome the profit taking that weighed it down last

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in the early going, and gamers took a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The composite ticker tape reporting trades in NYSE stocks ran up to 5 minutes late shortly after the opening. Analysts said the market was getting some support from hopes that negotiations between the United Auto Workers union and major car manufacturers would produce a contract agreement without a strike.

Mesabi Trust Certificates topped the active list unchanged at 67s. A 29,500 share block traded at that price.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 4.25 to 993.21, finishing the week with a net drop of 9.90.
Declines outnumbered advances by about a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues, a the exchange's composite index was down .29 at 55.94.

Big Board volume came to 20.45 million shares. On the American Stock Exchange, the market value in-dex fell .58 to 106.02.

Fruehauf First Half

DETROIT (AP) - Fruehaul Corp. earned $13.2 million in the second quarter of 1976, the truck trailer and auto parts maker has reported.

Fruehauf said the earnings came on sales of $348.8 million and were equal to $1.10 per share, compared with sales of $281.6 million and earnings of $5.4 million, or 46 cents, for the same period last year.

For the six-month period.

Fruehauf said it earned $22.8 million on sales of $652.6 million, or $1.91 per share. That compares with earnings of $7.8 million, or 66 cents a share, on sales of $538.7 million in the same 1975 span

President Robert D. Rowan said a high demand for Fruehauf products spurred the increases, with cost control programs and productivity gains also contributing.

Burroughs Profits. Sales Up

DETROIT (AP) - Burroughs Corp. earned $66.7 million in the first half of the year, compared with profils of $62.5 million in the same 1975 period, the com-puter systems manufacturer has reported.

Burroughs said the profits came on sales of $869.6 million, up from 1975 first-half sales of $782.1. Per-share profits for the two periods were $1.66 and

Second-quarter profits for 1976, the firm said, were $42.5 million, or $1.05 per share. compared with 1975 figures of thre noilim 1.888 Revenues were $464.3 million and $416.9 million, respectively. Chairman Ray W. MacDonald said orders in the period increased 22 per cent, with conincreases experted through 1977.

INVESTORS' GUIDE Has Strong Sound Commons Merit A Spot, Too

By SAM SHULSKY Q. We are retired, in our 50s, with holdings around $600,000 — consisting of certificates of deposit, tax-exempt bonds and occossit, tax-exempt bosses, and some high-grade growth com-mons on which we have a loss. We are a bit "gun shy" of com-mitting more capital to equities, even though we're almost sure you, will recommend a higher percentage of stacks. We get my percentage of stocks. We get up into the 39 per cent income tax bracket.

A. I suppose one could say right off the top of his head that anyone with $600,000 to invest can do anything he finds com-

However, your distillusionment with equities is an important consideration. You have about 14 per cent of your assets in classic, high quality growth issues, yielding an average 3.5 per cent and, of course, selling at a high price-earnings mul-tiple (a class which has been subject to market pressure in recent years.)

I have always encouraged in vestment in top quality growth stocks for young people "seeking their fortune." And you will find many reputable advisors who feel a growth stock yielding 2½ per cent is a better investment even for retired folks than, say, a conservative utility yielding 7 or 8 per cent. Still, I don't think this is an 'either-or' decision for retired folks -- even those in their 50s

I do feel you should have more in equities. The CDs and taxexempts are fine but can offer no protection against inflation over the balance of your lifetime. The growth stucks, of course, should help — going by

It's The Revisions That Count

By JOHN CUNNIFF
AP Business Analyst
NEW YORK (AP) — It is possible that the economy will be the issue that determines who we will elect in November as our president for the next four years. But how do you get a reading on the economy?

Fortunately, must people rely on their own seat-of-the-pants feeling to make their decision on whether the economy is per-forming well or poorly. It is the thickness of their own wallet that carries the message. If they were to rely on those outnourings of statistics from Washington they might become confused, as more than a few economists are. They would, so to speak, wonder which number was up. Retail sales, for example, were off in May, adding addi-tional evidence that the economic advance slowed appreciably in the second quarter. But how much were changes a lot of things, but the timing of the revision could be even more significant, especially if the retail sales figures for June are to have any significance.

Earlier this month, you see the Commerce Department announced that retail sales rebounded in June to 2.7 per cent, a report that brought joy to a lot of people who had feared consumers were being turned off.

But note - that 2.7 per cent jump was made possible only because of the sizuble down-ward revision of the previous

This wasn't the first time we have had such statistical maneuverings. It happens time after time. Sometimes, in fact, the initial figures for each month give the impression that the economy is buoming along. Only when we me back said.

Only when we go back and review the revisions do we see that in some instances the advances are made possible only because prior months are revised downward.

Therefore, instead of a steady, forceful march forward, we recognize that the advance sometimes is more in the pat-tern of two steps forward and one to the rear. But you have to note the revisions in order to spot it.

These revisions are made in the interest of accuracy rather than deceit, of course, but the impact on the public quite often resemble the effect produced by the latter.

Monthly and weekly figures do have their significance, but it is mainly over the period of several months that you distinguish the trends that won't be revised out of existence.

Can we wait, though? With the economy a prime cumpaign is-sue, it seems inevitable that we will rely on the "Ireshest" of statistics and ignore the later revisions, which often-are quite

Van Buren Republican Barbecue Attracts 800

Almost 800 of the party faithjammed the Triple-S

Produce company near here Saturday night for the 5th annual county GOP barbecue. With the Aug. 3 primary only two weeks away, discussions invariably turned to politics.

"This year there's been an increased interest in the Republican party from top to bottom," said county GOP Chairman Mrs. William (Bee) Lackey of Paw Paw Among those actively campaigning at the barbecue were Fourth Congressional district candidates Lee Boothby, David Frazer, David Stockman, and Helen Take: U.S. Senate hopefuls Marvin Esch and Dean Baker; 18 of the 19 Republican candidates for county offices, and a good smattering of

NEWS OF MARKETS

Stocks Gain Slightly

NEW YORK (AP) - The stock market posted a slight gain in active trading today. trying to overcome the profit taking that weighed it down last week.

The Dow Jones average of 30 industrial stocks rose a fraction in the early going, and gainers took a slight lead over losers among New York Stock Exchange-listed issues.

The composite ticker tape reporting trades in NYSE stocks ran up to 5 minutes late shortly after the opening.

Analysts said the market was getting some support from hopes that negotiations between the United Auto Workers union and major car manufacturers would produce a contract agreement without a strike. Mesabi Trust Certificates topped the active list. unchanged at 67s. A 29,500 share block traded at that price.

On Friday the Dow Jones industrial average lost 4.25 to 993.21, finishing the week with a net drop of 9.90

Declines outnumbered advances by about a 2-1 margin among NYSE-listed issues, and the exchange's composite index was down .29 at 55.94.

Big Board volume came to 20.45 million shares.

On the American Stock Exchange, the market value index fell .58 to 106.02.

Fruehauf Has Strong First Half

DETROIT (AP) - Fruehauf Corp. earned $13.2 million in the second quarter of 1976, the truck trailer and auto parts maker has reported.

Fruehauf said the earnings came on sales of $348.8 million and were equal to $1.10 per share, compared with sales of $281.6 million and earnings of $5.4 million, or 46 cents, for the same period last year.

For the six-month period. Fruehauf said it earned $22.8 million on sales of $652.6 million, or $1.91 per share. That compares with earnings of $7.8 million, or 66 cents a share, on sales of $538.7 million in the same 1975 span.

President Robert D. Rowan said a high demand for Fruehauf products spurred the increases, with cost control programs and productivity gains also contributing

Burroughs Profits, Sales Up

DETROIT (AP) - Burroughs Corp. earned $66.7 million in the first half of the year, compared with profits of $62.5 million in the same 1975 period, the computer systems manufacturer has reported.

Burroughs said the profits came on sales of $869.6 million, up from 1975 first-half sales of $782.1. Per-share profits for the two periods were $1.66 and $1.58.

Second-quarter profits for 1976, the firm said, were $42.5 million, or $1.05 per share, compared with 1975 figures of $39.1 milion and 99 cents. Revenues were $464.3 million and $416.9 million, respectively. Chairman Ray W. MacDonald said orders in the period increased 22 per cent, with continued increases expected through 1977.

INVESTORS' GUIDE Sound Commons Merit A Spot, Too

By SAM SHULSKY

Q. We are retired, in our 50s, with holdings around $600,000 consisting of certificates of deposit, tax-exempt bonds and some high-grade growth commons on which we have a loss. We are a bit "gun shy" of committing more capital to equities, even though we're almost sure vou will recommend a higher percentage of stocks. We get up into the 39 per cent income tax bracket.

I suppose one could say right off the top of his head that anyone with $600,000 to invest can do anything he finds com-

However, your disillusionment with equities is an important consideration. You have about 14 per cent of your assets in classic, high quality growth issues, yielding an average 3.5 per cent and, of course, selling at a high price-earnings multiple (a class which has been subject to market pressure in recent years.)

I have always encouraged investment in top quality growth stocks for young people "seeking their fortune." And you will find many reputable advisors who feel a growth stock yielding 21/2 per cent is a better investment even for retired folks than, say, a conservative utility yielding 7 or 8 per cent. Still, I don't think this is an "either-or" decision for retired folks - even those in their 50s. I do feel you should have more in equities. The CDs and taxexempts are fine but can offer no protection against inflation over the balance of your lifetime. The growth stocks, of course, should help - going by the book.

But there is no reason to ignore quality motors, telephone, electric utility, manufacturing stocks, either - even if they don't have the glamour of your favorites.

Example: A.T.&T. common has hardly been a "ball of fire" in the stock markets of the last decade. It has, in fact, "gone nowhere." But if you had owned the stock all that time you would have enjoyed a 72.7 per cent increase in dividend income. As this is written, the Bureau of Labor Statistics reports a 68.2 per cent gain in the cost of living since 1967. It's not exciting, and certainly not any "how-Idoubled-my-money" story you would like to boast about - but I've heard of worse fates. One vote for expanding the equity portion of this handsome portfolio - giving the nod to sound.

not-especially. glamorous, long-established commons which have proved their ability to stay afloat through good times and bad. Your stamped, self-addressed return envelope is bringing you some samples of what I mean.

Q. We inherited a large sum from our mother who, in her 70s, had followed your advice and bought Treasury and A.T.&T. bonds and had put some money in insured savings. She was happy with that and asked us to promise to leave the money in the same investments so that we would not have to worry in our old age. Our husbands, however, point out that this income, added to their earnings, brings us up into a very high bracket.

A. Far be it from me to suggest that children break promises made to their parents. But your husbands are in the right. I don't know how to ease your conscience in making a change to some common shares and high-grade, tax-exempt bonds except to think of it this

I suggested that portfolio for an elderly women and certainly would now suggest changes for two younger people. (Did you promise to stay with Treasuries, or with Shulsky?)

Netherlands Auto Sales Are Strong

AMSTERDAM (AP) - Car dealers in the Netherlands will have a very good sales year in 1976, according to predictions by Bovag, the Dutch association of auto dealers and garage

In the first half of 1976, nearly 290,000 new cars were sold, 20,000 more than in the first half of last year, the Dutch motoring magazine "Autovizier" report-

Figures from car importers indicate sales could reach the half million mark by the end of the year. Last year 486,000 new cars were sold.

Sales by General Motors, the leading seller in Holland, are running 15 per cent above 1975 levels. Ford, the No. 2 seller is 1 per cent of last year's pace, while Renault, Chrysler and Volkswagen are up 9, 8 and 7.6 per cent respectively

Old Coins Taken In Burglary

SOUTH HAVEN - A quantity of old money was reported stolen from the Gene Cast residence, 233 Dyckman avenue, sometime between last Thursday and Saturday, according to city police.

Officers said the value of the money was not determined, but the loot included several thousand old pennies. Also reported taken was a CB radio. Entry was made through a rear window, police said.

In another case, police reported that federal assistance checks of two Covert residents were apparently intercepted in the mail, forged and cashed.

Officials at Citizens Trust and Savings bank of South Haven said the checks were valued at $224.75 and had been written to Peter Kisel and Ann B. Johnson, both of Covert.

However, the owners said they never received the checks and that the endorsement signatures were not their's. Officials said the checks had been cashed between November and

CAREER OPPORTUNITY

Twenty years ago I left the profession of teaching to accept a contract with my present company, as a Career Agent. For the past twenty years, I have had a challenging and fascinating career, the satatisfaction of serving others, and no ceiling on my income. Today, as a General Agent, I have a successful and established agency.

We currently have an opening for a person who is interested in taking advantage of the opportunity to build a career in life insurance sales, as I did some twenty years ago. I can offer a substantial starting salary, plus nuses, a three-year training program, complete group and pension benefits, and the backing of a company with well over one-half billion in

I would like the opportunity to talk with a person who is not satisfied with his present situation, or future opportunities, and who is willing to accept the challenge of a profession and the opportunities and this paper with a resume of education and vocational background.
